PSI HOST TO 115TH CONVENTION

FOR the first time in thirty years, the Psi Chapter will be host to a national Convention of the Fraternity. The plans for the Convention have been completed and all major arrangements made.

Conventions have been held at the Psi in 1851, 1864, 1876, 1895, and 1927. The Convention of 1957 will certainly be the largest the Psi has been host to, and, hopefully, it will be the most successful. Because the Convention will be in the East, the Psi hopes that as many brothers as can will attend.

The delegates will convene within twenty days of the 115th anniversary of the installation of the Chapter in 1843.

Fortunately, the chapter house is not as old as the Chapter, and it will be in excellent condition to be the focal point of the Convention.

Undergraduate delegates to the Convention will be housed "up hill" in South College. The word "Hill" should not be discouraging, for the walk to South College is neither steep nor long.

Arrangements have been made for the Executive Council at the Alexander Hamilton Inn which is in the village of Clinton. The Inn will also be the scene of informal social gatherings. Its tap room will be opened to delegates as will its dining facilities. These arrangements have been made for delegates who plan to arrive early.

Because early fall weather is ideal at Hamilton, arrangements have been made with the College for the use of its golf course and tennis courts during the Convention. The golf course is a nine-hole course which is within walking distance of the Chapter house. There are nine tennis courts which the delegates will be able to use. We urge all the delegates who like golf and tennis to bring along their clubs and racquets.

Because Hamilton is a mile from Clinton and nine miles from Utica, it is quiet and, relatively cool even on the hottest day in a city. The Convention dinners have been planned to keep the delegates free from the discomforts of the city too.

The Thursday night dinner will be held at Trinkhaus Manor, a restaurant well known in the area for its excellent cuisine and service. Its facilities for a banquet are excellent.

The Convention Banquet will be held at the Twin Ponds Country Club. The club is located between the College and Utica, has all the conveniences of being near a city, but retains a pleasant country atmosphere.

The Psi Chapter house itself is the largest on College Hill and is well equipped to entertain the delegates. For those who drive, parking will present no problems, for there are adequate parking lots near the house.

Hamilton College is a small college. It has always been small and has always been proud of its small size, for its size has not deterred from its excellent standards. It is a college that has a rich tradition, and fraternities have been a part of that tradition since 1831: It is not a famous college in the usual sense of the word, but it commands the highest respect of educators and leaders who have to maintain an awareness of the standards of colleges and universities.

Both Alumni and active members of the Psi are working to make the 1957 Convention successful. Gardner A. Callanen, Jr., '29, is general chairman of the Convention Committee. John H. Caldwell, III, is the Chairman for the Chapter. The Alumni and the active chapter are cooperating to the fullest degree with these brothers in planning for the fall Convention.

The active chapter, with John M. Driscoll, Jr., John H. Caldwell, III, David T. Sykes, and Philip R. Fahringer as its leaders will be on hand to give the delegates any assistance they may need during the Convention. We all look forward to seeing representatives from all the chapters and as many alumni who can come on September 4th, 5th, 6th, and 7th.

NEW PRESIDENT OF ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Alfred H. Morton, Omicron '19

Alfred H. "Doc" Morton, Omicron '19, a Founder and Past President of the New York Metropolitan Association of Psi Upsilon and a former member of The Executive Council of Psi Upsilon, has been elected President of the Alumni Association of Psi Upsilon.

"Doc" Morton typifies the western man so ably described by Charles Dudley Warner, Psi 1851, at the 47th Annual Convention in 1880. Said he: "They were great men these Westerners, mighty in brain, full in invention and daring men of renown. It has always been characteristic of the Western man that he could never rest, nor be content with any prosperity or success, so long as there was anything beyond him . . . to explore."

Brother Morton, a loyal and dedicated Psi U since undergraduate days, was a pioneer in the development of both radio and television and has been a leading figure in the growth of these industries for the past thirty-five years. Resigning from the Army in 1919 as a Captain of Field Artillery, he entered the employ of the General Electric Company as an assistant to Mr. Owen D. Young, serving in that capacity during the formation of the Radio Corporation of America. After being assigned to RCA as Manager of its Washington office from 1922 to 1925, there followed assignments in RCA Communications and then as European Manager of RCA, headquartering in Paris from 1929 to 1934. During this period he was responsible for the sale of RCA equipment, supervised the construction of broadcasting stations in Rome and Milan, Italy, negotiated and administered patent license agreements with various European manufacturers, and established arrangements with a number of different countries for the exchange of radio-telegraph traffic with the United States. He started also, at that time, the regular westbound flow of broadcast programs from Europe to the then young Broadcasting Company. Returning to the United States, he served successively as Manager of the Program Department of NBC, Vice-President in charge of the fifteen broadcasting stations owned or managed and operated by NBC; then, as its first Vice-President in charge of Television, when the lusty infant began regular operation coincident with the opening of the New York World's Fair in the spring of 1939.

In 1942, Brother Morton was elected President of the National Concert and Artists Corporation, formed to take over the talent activities of NBC. With the postwar re-emergence of TV in 1948, he resigned this post to become Director of Television for Twentieth Century Fox Film Corporation.

Then followed, in 1952, a call to public service from the Government, and he became the first civilian head of The Voice of America and Deputy Administrator of the Government's International Information Administration, then a part of the State Department. Following the formation of the United States Information Agency, a separate independent agency of the Government, he resigned this post, pursuant to his agreement to remain until the new agency was organized and operating. Since then he has been a consultant for TV stations and in the fields of TV programming, advertising, and public relations.

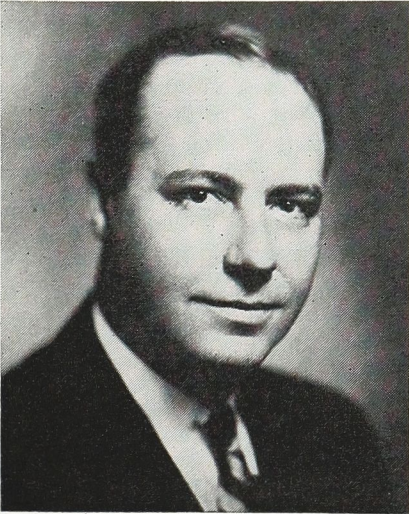

He was awarded the French Legion of Honor for his work with the Ministries of Foreign Affairs and Communications of France and is a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and the Institute of Radio Engineers.

He has been a member of the Board of Governors of the Alumni Association since 1936, and since that time has acted as chairman of several very successful New York Founders' Day Dinners.

In 1925 Brother Morton married Helen Mills, the sister of Brother Allan B. Mills, Lambda 21. They have a daughter, Mary, and two granddaughters, Jennifer Morton Torrey and Elizabeth De Witt Torrey.

NEW MEMBER OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL

Franklin F. Bruder, Theta '25

BROTHER BRUDER, well known President of the New York Metropolitan Association of Psi Upsilon and a member of the Board of Governors of the Alumni Association, has been elected a member of the Executive Council of Psi Upsilon.

He is now Vice-President, Treasurer, and a director of the City Stores Corporation, which operates twelve of the leading department stores of the country.

After graduating from Union College, in 1925, Brother Bruder began his business career with the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation, New York, in 1925. He served the firm in various executive capacities in this country and abroad. He came to Bamberger's in 1946 as Secretary and Treasurer, a member of the Executive Committee and the Board of Directors. In 1955 he was made Vice-President for Corporate Control of R. H. Macy & Co., Inc.

Brother Bruder was a Director of the New Jersey Taxpayers' Association; Director and Vice-President of the Chamber of Commerce of Newark; member of the Cost of Government Committee of the New Jersey Chamber of Commerce; and Trustee of the Newark Safety Council.

He was active in organizing the Newark Control of the Controllers Institute of America and served as a Director of this branch. In recent years he has served as a member of the Board of Directors of Essex-West Hudson Junior Achievement and Vice-Chairman of the Commercial Division of the Community Chest of Newark and West Hudson.

He is a member of the Ridgewood Country Club, and Essex Clubs of Newark and the University and Shanghai Tiffin Clubs of New York.

A CRITIC'S BRUSH WITH ART

By John McClain
Sigma-Iota '26

TO EACH man comes the realization, at some point in his life, that he has a hidden talent as a painter. As a student at Brown University this phenomenon overcame me to such a degree that I took pen in hand and succeeded, finally, in persuading S. J. Perelman, editor of the "Brown Jug," to publish one of my hideous sketches. (This proves that Mr. Perelman was a sincere humorist even then, and today I think he is the greatest. If you haven't read his latest book, "The Road to Milltown," you are an imbecile.)

In any event, I kept this secret gift under fair control for almost thirty years, venturing only an occasional pencil portrait on a restaurant napkin, until I had the misfortune to pass an artists' supply store a few weeks ago. In the window was a complete kit of oils with a placard which stated, "Everything for the Beginner—$11.50."

Price Was Reasonable

I figured this was a reasonable price to join the likes of Eisenhower and Churchill, and I went inside. There I was greeted by the proprietor, who immediately won me with his candor.

"It's like this sir," he said. "Now I sell you this box with the paints and the canvasses and everything. Now I don't figure to make any money selling this for $11.50, but that ain't the point. The point is that painting is like dope. Once you start it, and if you got any ability at all—you're hooked. I got you like an addict, and you'll be back here every week for more stuff."

I paid him the money and put the box under my arm with the firm determination that it would be the last the fellow would see of me! Hooked, indeed—not this wily Scot!

My first venture, a still life of a silver cup and an ash tray, was completed in a miraculous two nights and turned out to be absolutely superb. The best effect in the picture came about when I put my elbow in the ash tray, while painting the cup. People say it gives the work a sort of Renoir quality. Another feature of the canvas is the fact that I blended the charcoal from the original sketch into the oil which I applied later, giving the entire conception an attractive neutral flavor.

While this effect was excellent in my first effort, I realized that it might not be practical for the landscapes and portraits to which I was soon to graduate. Naturally, I went back to the supply store to get some advice.

The proprietor couldn't have been more helpful.

He sold me an easel, seven tubes of fast-drying colors, a pint of turpentine, a bottle of fixative, three sable brushes and a device to hold the brushes suspended in turpentine when not in use.

My next effort was a still life of a glass of wine and a piece of cheese. I did this in the living room because there is a table there with a green cover that makes an attractive contrast with the cheese. This took a little long and the cheese got a little stale and the fumes from the pot of turpentine began to annoy my wife, but I was not to be denied. Only yesterday I went back to the dealer and bought a new type turpentine container that cuts down on the odor.

That picture is finished now and I'm about to start a new one, only I'm going to need a lot of new supplies.

Mr. McClain is the drama critic of the N.Y. Journal-American. In addition to his regular reviews his columnar comments on the theatrical scene appear Monday and Friday.

"MR. SYRACUSE REGATTA"

FOR years, the rowing fraternity has been laddling out encomiums quite loosely.

They've been rather generous in their buttering up of several Old Oars with such weather-beaten titles as "Mr. Regatta," "Mr. Rowin" (Russel S. Callow, Theta Theta '16), "Old Man River," and the like.

And it's about time that the Real Skipper of the ship—the person who really keeps the Intercollegiate Regatta on an even keel—gets his due. He's a fellow who answers politely to "J. H. Decker."

This is "Mr. Rowing" today! And for that matter, most of the year as well, for likable, efficient Jim Decker has the responsibility of tying a million details together for this extravaganza—rowing's Big Day in the Sun.

Because he is Syracuse University's Assistant Director of Athletics, the IRA Regatta got dumped in his trim lap five years ago. A spotless performance by Comdr. Decker in supervising the Eastern Sprint Regatta rowed here in 1949 earned him several "Bravos" from the hard-bitten coaches, plus the affection of the Board of Stewards.

James H. Decker, Pi '32

Four tough years in Uncle Sam's Navy during the war helped Jim get a nautical background that he was able to put to good use in connection with the Regatta.

While he was skipper of L.S.M. 139, Decker's craft was among the first to reach the Leyte beachhead. Two rugged months aboard this bathtub were spent in crossing the Pacific, touching several bases en route.

"It was the blind leading the blind," Decker has often laughed since, as he thinks about the voyage . . . and then blanches when he reminds himself about the horrible lack of knowledge about matters navigational, under which he and his helpmates labored.

So getting rugged assignments was nothing new for Jim. Like the good Navy man that he is, he just rolled up his sleeves and began to chart a straight Regatta course.

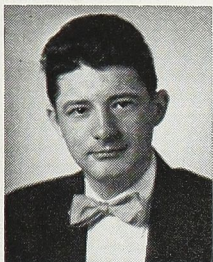

Five Quonsets to store the slick, 63-foot shells were constructed and long aprons to launch them from were built. Hot water to shower 350 oarsmen had to be provided, and buses had to be arranged for to transport the crewmen to their living quarters.

There were dozens of other things to do as well. Such as spot and unload the baggage cars that bring the shells; act as a hospitality committee for the visiting delegations; set up a dispatching schedule that encourages the adhering to a pin-point time table for the races; hire ticket takers; find some sea scouts for the stakeboats; orient the State Police and other traffic officials for the smooth handling of thousands of cars. All these plus a bushel basket full of other problems to be cared for, too.

Putting all this together into the neat package that is being served you today has been Jimmy Decker. Jim's been doing it for the past five Regattas, too, which have been run off with hardly a hitch. And he's been performing this miracle on a budget as slim as his 29-inch waist.

J. H. Decker . . . we hereby dub thee "Mr. Syracuse Regatta." Thanks for putting together a terrific show!—Courtesy Arnold Burdick, Sports Editor, Syracuse (N.Y.) Herald-Journal.

ROBERT A. TAFT, Beta '10, "the conscience of the conservative movement" will be immortalized in the halls of the United States Capitol, when his portrait is placed in one of the ovals, designed for outstanding Americans.

From the more than 2,000 men who have served in the Senate during its 168-year history the Selection Committee has finally chosen Daniel Webster, Henry Clay, John C. Calhoun, Robert La Follette Sr. and Robert A. Taft as the five who deserve the honor.

In making its selection the committee applied four standards: to minimize partisan controversy the candidates must not be living; they should be chosen without regard to other offices they might have held; they should have distinguished themselves by acts of statesmanship that transcended state and party lines; and their reputation for national as well as senatorial leadership should be considered. After the committee's choices have been confirmed by the Senate as a whole, portraits of the five, perhaps specially commissioned, will be placed in the Senate's reception room. There five oval spaces, designed for likenesses of outstanding Americans, have been empty ever since the Capitol was finished in 1859.

Memorials at the Phi

The 1956 Convention saw a Lodge Room at the Phi which is dedicated exclusively to Memorials. The original furnishings were dedicated in 1925 to the memory of John M. Wheeler, Theta 1841, and to Martin L. D'Ooge, Phi 1862. Wheeler, one of the early members of the Theta, was long Treasurer of the University of Michigan, and a life-long supporter of the Phi. D'Ooge, one of the founders of the Phi, was for many years Professor of Greek and Dean of the Literary Department of the University, and always active in Phi affairs.

Recently installed are Memorials to Albert Poole Jacobs, Phi 1873, and to Frederick L. Bliss, Phi 1877, both of Detroit. These Memorials consist of fraternity archives, including the fraternity library of Jacobs, author of "The Greek Letter Societies" (1879) and of the "Psi Upsilon Epitome" (1884). The Jacobs' collection is doubtless the most outstanding general collection of fraternity history in existence. Bliss was the founder and head of the Detroit University School. Jacobs and Bliss, like Wheeler and D'Ooge, were advisers and continuous supporters of the Phi to their life's end.

A Pin Case recently has been installed as a Memorial to Standish Backus, Phi 1898, who was the active factor in the building of the present Chapter House (1925), after the Phi had surrendered to the University its original Chapter House of 1880, and its adjoining area, in order to complete the site for the present Law School Quadrangle. The Phi Chapter House of 1880 was the first at Michigan, and one of the first in the country, especially designed for fraternity purposes.

Delta Annual Dinner

The 120th Annual Dinner of the Delta of Psi Upsilon was held at the Lotos Club on May 5, 1957. It was one of the largest and best in their long and honorable history. Among the brothers present were those who have been out of college 50 years, more or less, as follows:

Dr. Orrin S. Wightman, Delta '95
Dr. Chester S. Whitney, Delta '96
Dr. Noble MacCracken, Delta '00
Deems Taylor, Delta '06
Howard Huntington, '08.

In addition to the graduate members present a good part of the active chapter attended the dinner. Some had to remain with studies as examination time had arrived. The calling of the roll started with the class of 1895 and came up to 1960.

Regrets and best wishes were forwarded by many brothers but one that was greatly appreciated was that from Perry Pentz, Delta '94, who is now totally blind but also totally devoted to the Psi Upsilon Fraternity. General William Draper, Delta '17 sent greetings from Mexico. Francis L. Gould, Delta '05 sent greetings from Switzerland.

An expression of appreciation was tendered to the three Delta brothers who were recently honored at the University Alumni Dinner for outstanding achievement. These were: General Frank Howley, Delta '25, Deems Taylor, Delta '06 and Richard Mallery, Delta '28. Brother Mallery was honored for 25 years of distinguished service teaching at University Heights.

The alumni were highly pleased with the morale of the active chapter. We are looking forward to a thriving new year. Our house has been completely redecorated inside and out. It is almost entirely refurnished. We hopefully and confidently look forward to another 120 years.

Letter to the Editor

Mr. Edward C. Peattie, Editor
The Diamond of Psi Upsilon
4 West 43rd Street,
New York 36, N.Y.

Dear Brother Peattie:

Replying to yours of May 15, I will give you now the names of the Psi U members of our family.

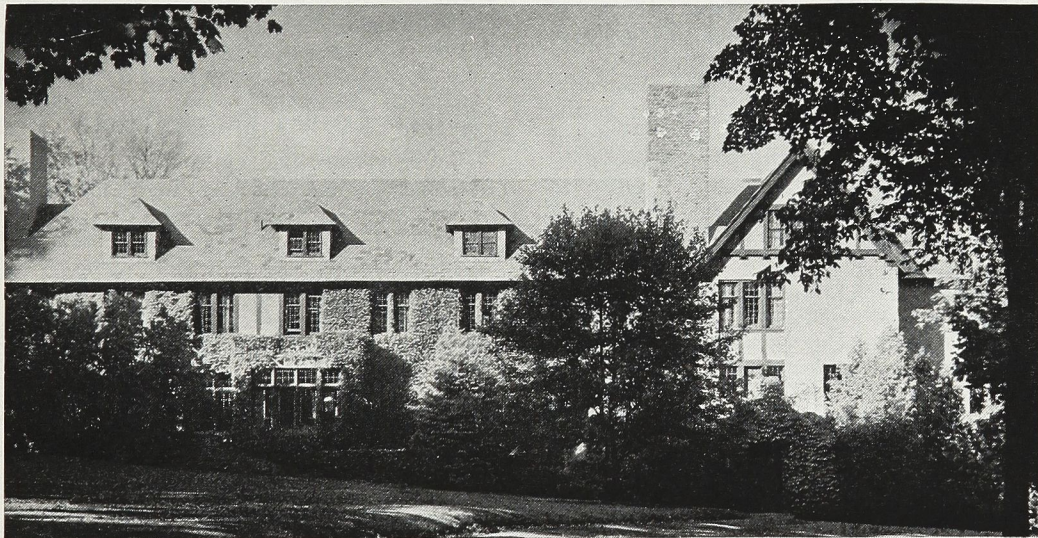

My mother's two brothers, John H. Goodenow and Henry C. Goodenow, were both Psi U's at Bowdoin; my father's brother, Buckingham Willcox, was a Psi U in Yale; my father was a Psi U at New York University and president, I believe, of the second fraternity convention; my brother and I were Psi U's at Amherst in the classes of '84 and '89; my sons, Bertram, Chi '17; Alan, Chi '22; and Bill, Chi '28, were Psi U's at Cornell.

It might be wise for you to print this much as soon as convenient, leaving me to follow it up with some account of their record in case I have time to prepare one.

Just now I am rushing preparations to attend, with my daughter, one of the biennial sessions of the International Statistical Institute to be held at Stockholm, Sweden, August 8 to 15. From there we shall return to England and spend a month seeing old friends and making new ones. The last week of that month we shall have a family reunion on Loch Earn in Scotland with eleven Willcoxes attending. They will include a family of five from Ann Arbor, Michigan, where my youngest son who is teaching English History there has a year of sabbatic leave to be spent mainly at Oxford; he will give some lectures in the first semester and do some tutoring in the second. It will include also four members of my oldest son's family; he is teaching labor law here in the Cornell University Law School and is to be in England for the summer. My daughter and I are the other two making up the complement.

Yours in the Bonds,
WALTER F. WILLCOX, Gamma '84

SEE YOU AT THE CONVENTION!

The Psi Chapter will be host to the 115th Annual Convention of Psi Upsilon on the 4th, 5th, 6th and 7th of September, 1957, at Clinton, New York.

IN MEMORIAM

The Editors wish to point out that the reason the obituary section of this issue is very much longer than usual is that in the course of the preparation of the new Directory the Committee received from many of our Brethren and/or their families notice of deaths which had occurred over a long period. Because of limited space it has not been possible to publish the bulk of these names until now.

We realize that our list of deaths in the Fraternity is by no means complete even now, and we would appreciate the cooperation of our readers in supplying additional information for bringing our records up-to-date.

Before his retirement in 1952 Brother Neef had for 25 years been Director of the Personnel Bureau and in that position had complete charge of the College's financial aid program, including scholarships, loans and student employment. Placement service for both undergraduates and alumni was also under his supervision. As Director of the Personnel Bureau, he efficiently organized and headed an administrative operation that grew steadily over the years, and many of the procedures he introduced are used today in the two offices of financial aid and placement into which the Personnel Bureau was divided when he retired.

As teacher and administrative officer Professor Neef served Dartmouth for 43 years. He came to the College as Instructor in German in 1909, became an Assistant Professor in 1915, and was promoted to Professor in 1923, at which time Dartmouth awarded him the faculty honorary degree of Master of Arts. He was at one time chairman of the Department of German, and his service on faculty and administrative committees was continuous and varied.

He attended Bradley Polytechnic Institute and then continued at the University of Chicago for the one year necessary to obtain his bachelor's degree in 1905. For the next two years he studied abroad, at the Universities of Lausanne, Berlin and Leipzig, and then held a fellowship at the University of Chicago, 1907-08. He was appointed instructor in German at Brown University and after one year he accepted the same position at Dartmouth in 1909. The next eighteen years were devoted to teaching until in 1927 he was asked by President Hopkins to become Director of the Personnel Bureau. Along with this position he always retained his professorship in the Department of German, but personnel work took more and more time and eventually became a full-time responsibility. In 1922, before this appointment, he had served as Acting Registrar of the College. During World War I he held a government position as censor of German language newspapers published in the United States.

Professor Neef held many civic positions in Hanover, notably with the School Board. He was chairman of a special committee which studied Hanover's school needs and also chairman of the building committee which planned and supervised the construction of the Hanover Junior-Senior High School, 1932-36. Earlier he had been chairman of the committee which supervised the erection of the Hanover Municipal Building in 1929-30. He helped draw up the zoning regulations for the town in 1930 and for some years was clerk of the Precinct Zoning Board. At various times Professor Neef also was president of the Graduate Club, and a member of the Howe Library Corporation, the board of directors of the Dartmouth Cemetery Association, the board of governors of the Hanover Country Club, and the Mary Hitchcock Hospital Corporation.

NEW PSI U DIRECTORY AVAILABLE

The new Directory of Psi U Alumni is available for immediate delivery to you. The first since 1941. Complete, cross-indexed alphabetically and geographically for maximum usefulness, convenient size.

The Directory shows the name and address of every living Psi U alumnus who could be located through systematic search by college alumni offices, chapter associations, and the Psi U office.

Price is $4.00 per copy, postpaid. Records of the names and addresses of new members initiated each year will be issued.

The Executive Council of the Fraternity and the Board of Governors of the Alumni Association jointly underwrite this much-needed Directory. While the book is being offered at only slightly above estimated cost, it is hoped that a small profit may form the nucleus of a fund for future publication at 10-year intervals.

Order your copy now. A big inventory could not be afforded, and the edition was necessarily limited. Use the blank below for efficient handling of your order.
