THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF THE PSI UPSILON FRATERNITY

August 10, 1969

A Message from the Executive Council President

Dear Brothers:

We believe that the selection of friends and the management of affairs are essential elements to an adequate education. Those who dispute the relevance of fraternities must in some way be demeaning the right of individuals to associate freely and to exercise management prerogatives over their affairs, for that is the stuff of which our association is made -- Psi Upsilon is a group of men banded together in the pursuit of excellence for the mutual benefit of the members, the association and the entire society. Our fraternity's end product is the educated man, and this is our raison d'etre.

We are faced with a highly complex and sometimes hostile environment. The chaotic college campus presents unprecedented difficulties to the operation of our chapters. We have problems, to be sure, but our situation is no different from that with which every educational-social institution is faced.

With even the most cursory examination of our circumstances it is easy to see the difficulties with which we are faced. It is just as easy to overlook the enormous progress that we have made. We are conducting the operation of Psi Upsilon with unprecedented efficiency. We are doing this with approximately the same income that we had available to us in 1964. The nature of our staff operation is such that credit goes to the volunteers when a project is successfully completed. The work of our staff is essential and constitutes a very material contribution to the overall success of our efforts. An examination of the report on the activities of the Central Office will give you a brief idea of the scope and frequency of their chapter-related operations.

Psi Upsilon is doing a fine job for its members. Much progress has been made. Much more remains to be done. You can help to formulate the legislative program that will dictate our operational policies for the coming year by attending and participating in the Annual Convention that will be held in Evanston, Illinois, from September 2nd through the 5th. Full particulars concerning the Convention arrangements are included as part of this special edition of The Diamond.

We are looking forward to a pleasant and productive session. Please try to join us.

Yours in the bonds,
Jerome W. Brush, Jr.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF PSI UPSILON

EPSILON OMEGA CHAPTER—
NORTHWESTERN UNIVERSITY
EVANSTON, ILLINOIS

September 2-5, 1969

Dear Brothers:

The Epsilon Omega Chapter of Psi Upsilon cordially invites you to attend the 127th Annual Convention of Psi Upsilon Fraternity to be held at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois, September 2-5.

Matters of vital importance to the continual success of Psi Upsilon will be acted upon at the convention and your attendance will provide you an opportunity to actively participate in these decisions, as well as visit an area rightly termed the "convention center of the United States" and Northwestern University. We are enclosing brochures outlining some of the events and places of interest you might find enjoyable during your visit to the Convention.

The Epsilon Omega Chapter takes great pride in having been chosen to host the 127th Annual Convention and no effort has been spared to insure the delegates will be provided with excellent accommodations and facilities as well as a profitable and enriching convention.

Again, we wish to extend you a most cordial invitation to join us in the bonds at the 127th Annual Convention. We look forward to seeing you.

Yours in the bonds,

20th Anniversary

Psi Upsilon Convention 1969

The 127th annual Convention of Psi Upsilon Fraternity will be held at the Epsilon Omega chapter in Evanston, Illinois. It will be the first Psi Upsilon convention ever to be held on the Northwestern University campus and will convene on Tuesday, September 2 at 9:00 A.M., concluding Friday, September 5.

This will be one of the most important and interesting conventions in Psi Upsilon history. Among the special topics to be discussed include chapter leadership, scholarship, and a program of modern pledge training. A special Workshop Panel entitled "The Fraternity's Role in Society" is also scheduled which will include speakers and several prize winning films such as Kaiser Aluminum's "Why Man Creates" and "The Seekers" produced by the New York State Narcotics Bureau. Presentations and recommendations will be made prior to the opening of the floor to discussion.

The committee meetings and business sessions of the convention will be relieved by afternoon luncheons featuring interesting programs. On Tuesday the delegates and guests will be welcomed to Northwestern University by Chancellor J. Roscoe Miller and Assistant Dean William A. McCormick. Wednesday's luncheon will be the annual scholarship awards gathering and Friday features an address by Prof. R. Barry Farrell, noted Russian scholar, on the Workshop Topic: "The Fraternity's Role in Today's Society."

Two informal dinners have been planned at the Hotel Orrington for Tuesday and Wednesday evenings. Tuesday evening the convention will be greeted by the Epsilon Omega Chapter and on Wednesday an informal convention banquet at the Orrington will be addressed by Dr. James C. McLeod, former Chaplain and Dean of Students at Northwestern. Thursday will feature the taking of the annual Convention photograph to be taken on the steps of the new Epsilon Omega Chapter House. This will be followed by a bus tour of Chicago for Convention delegates and guests. Thursday evening the 100th anniversary of the Omega Chapter at the University of Chicago will be celebrated by a formal banquet at the Chicago Athletic Club. A prominent speaker will be featured at the banquet. It is hoped that this will be the occasion for a large gathering of Psi U alumni from both the Chicago area and the entire Midwest. Cocktail hours will precede each evening meal.

The chapters have submitted the names of over 60 undergraduate delegates who will attend this year's convention. This large number is indicative of the serious interest that the undergraduates take in the affairs of the Fraternity. A corresponding manifestation of concern by the alumni brothers will do much to aid the efforts being made to maintain a strong and healthy Psi Upsilon. Your attendance is not merely invited, but your participation in the proceedings is sincerely solicited.

The Host Chapter

Your Executive Council takes pleasure in welcoming the delegates and visitors to the 127th Convention of Psi Upsilon, which we are holding in our 136th year. This will be the fifth convention of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity at which each chapter alumni organization is entitled to representation by an accredited voting delegate. This is of significance because it is part of our Fraternity's Program designed to bring the activities and influence of the undergraduate and alumni together in a cooperative effort for the benefit of Psi Upsilon.

The site of this year's Convention, Evanston, Illinois, was chosen for two reasons. The Epsilon Omega Chapter of Northwestern University will this fall dedicate a new $450,000 chapter house as part of its 20th anniversary celebration. This convention is part of that celebration program. As part of our annual convention banquet we will also mark the 100th anniversary of our Omega Chapter at the University of Chicago. The Evanston-Chicago area, "Convention Center of the U.S.," will provide us with the geographically central location and facilities that should make this one of our most successful conventions.

Northwestern University, established in 1851, is the smallest, and the only privately endowed, university in the Western or Big Ten Conference. Founded as a Methodist institution, Northwestern is today a non-denominational, co-educational complex of 6,500 undergraduates and 7,500 graduate students located on two campuses, one in Evanston and one in Chicago. The Evanston campus is composed of the undergraduate colleges of Arts and Sciences, Speech, Music, Business, Education, Engineering, and Journalism, the Graduate School and the Graduate School of Business. The Law School, Medical School, and Dental School are located a few blocks from Chicago's Loop.

Long respected as one of America's top institutions of learning, NU ranks among the top five in endowments, and among the top ten in degrees awarded. Noted Northwestern alumni include Adlai Stevenson, Otto Kerner, Arthur Goldberg, George Ball, Willard Wirtz, Charlton Heston, and Ann-Margret.

The motto of Northwestern is Quaecumque sunt vera, Whatsoever things are true, and the University has always tried to live up to this ideal. It has its share of knowledge seekers, protestors, militants, etc., but has found room to accommodate all as it should in the values of superior education. Its former conservatism has emerged in recent years to a more liberal awareness not so different from its sister schools in the East and is steadily planning and progressing for the Seventies. Psi Upsilon is part of this progress.

Psi Upsilon is one of the newest additions to an extensive Greek system (31 fraternities, 18 sororities) which has dominated Northwestern's social and academic life for over 100 years. In 1947 the Diamond Club was established as a local organization for the purpose of petitioning the Executive Council for membership in Psi U. The leader in this movement was Richard Travis Kent, a former Xi, and president of the Diamond Club. Aided by prominent University of Chicago Psi U's, the Epsilon Omega was chartered in February, 1949. In 1950 the chapter moved from a quonset hut in Deering Meadow to the house it occupied at 1958 Sheridan Road until this year. During its 20-year tenure at Northwestern, Psi U has emerged from a small fraternity to a strong one of 62 members typified by diversity, scholarship, and participation in campus activities. The beautiful new chapter house at 620 Lincoln Street symbolizes the Epsilon Omega's commitment to future success in the finest traditions of Psi Upsilon.

Our First Convention—1841

The first regularly called Convention was held at the Delta Chapter on October 22, 1841 in accordance with a call published in the New York Tribune:

A Convention of delegates, from the several branches of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity, will be holden on Friday, Oct. 22nd at two o'clock P.M. in the Chapel of the University of the City of New York. All members of the Fraternity are respectfully invited to attend.

From the earliest discussions about the values of holding a convention among delegates from the various chapters of Psi Upsilon, one of the main concerns was that such a gathering be made as accessible to the membership as possible. It was suggested that the City of New York be chosen as the most central and most accessible to the various chapters. Likewise, it was felt that sometime in the early part of October would be the most suitable season as the time when the delegates could most conveniently leave their respective institutions. The feeling then as now that a convention with strong representation would be the most valuable to the Fraternity was rewarded by the participation of seven graduate delegates and 26 undergraduate delegates from the Theta, Delta, Beta, and Sigma Chapters.

Founder Sterling G. Hadley

The business conducted at that first convention was not all that different from many of the concerns we have today. The recommendation was made that measures be taken to prepare a full and complete listing of all of the Fraternity's members. It was suggested that the Fraternity expand, establishing chapters "in all colleges in the country, whose reputation is such, as that such branches would add to the respectability of the whole." It was felt that more contact should be encouraged between the various chapters by means of correspondence at least twice a term, and that the convention should be made an annual affair to "give the society more permanency, and character," and at the same time provide a celebration of the anniversary of the society.

Among the other business conducted before the gathering adjourned to the more enjoyable pursuits of song and brotherhood were a revision of the Constitution and the authorization for the establishment of the Gamma Chapter at Amherst College later that fall. After adjournment, "the Convention was invited to supper by the Delta, when, for two hours, we enjoyed such a 'flow of soul,' of eloquence and song, as we trust will not be soon forgotten by any one then present." We hope that this year's convention experience will be equally as memorable.

The Annual Communication of the Executive Council to the 1969 Convention of Psi Upsilon

The Executive Council

The government of the Fraternity is vested in the convention and in the Executive Council. The convention is in session three or four days annually. For the remainder of the year the Executive Council is the governing body of Psi Upsilon, acting under provisions of the convention.

The Executive Council was instituted in 1869. Past Presidents of the Council are Life Members, and retired members who have served 15 years may be elected to Honorary Membership. Living Past Presidents are: Scott Turner, Phi '02, and Robert Parsons, Xi '22. Honorary Life Members are R. K. Northey, Nu '12, and John R. Burliegh, Zeta '14.

All members serve voluntarily. They pay their personal expenses to attend meetings, as well as any costs incurred in making official chapter visits and attending the conventions. Some members regularly travel from Chicago and Montreal to New York to attend council meetings.

The terms of the five following members of the Council expire with this convention:

Robert W. Morey, Pi '20, Vice-President

Dan H. Brown, Omega '16

John E. Fricke, Xi '23

J. Russell McShane, Delta '32

Roland B. Winsor, Epsilon Phi '27

During the year Michael W. Weaver, Theta Theta '50, was elected to the Council.

The Executive Council has held a total of four meetings since the last convention and acted as host for a Regional Conference of our Midwestern chapters. Acting upon resolutions passed at the 1968 convention, members of the Executive Council and their staff gave much time and thought to the problems of Psi Upsilon. Reports were received relative to chapter visits as well as from members of the Executive Council concerning various studies of the operations of the Fraternity.

Annual Alumni Dues

At the 1963 convention, the delegates voted to inaugurate a system of annual voluntary dues from the alumni of the Fraternity. Prior to this time, dues had been collected through an annual solicitation by the Board of Governors of the Alumni Association. The purpose of the changing of the system was to underwrite the costs of the ambitious program to revitalize the Fraternity which was commenced that year. For the year ending December 31, 1963, $3,626 was received from 727 alumni for an average contribution of $5.00. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1968, $33,143 was received from 1,646 alumni for an average contribution of $20.14. This year the Executive Council received an annual alumni contribution of $33,759.35 from 1,520 alumni donors for an average contribution of $22.21.

These figures show an increase over 1967 and an impressive increase over the 1963 dollar total. The increase in the receipts to our annual dues appeal is a direct result of our efforts to revitalize the Fraternity. It is absolutely necessary that the Executive Council continue to increase the number of contributions it receives and the average amount of these contributions if our program is to have the opportunity to succeed.

Central Office Staff

The Executive Council must provide all the personnel and paraphernalia to meet the needs of the numerous governing boards, undergraduate chapters and alumni organizations in the United States and Canada. It must do all of these things in the face of steadily rising costs, severely limited funds, and in a sometimes hostile environment ripe with chaotic change and dissent. To meet just the short run needs of our Fraternity is a Herculean task in light of our circumstances. We have been forced to devote a major portion of our resources to keep pace with the past, although we realize that simply equaling the performance of the past, is inadequate preparation for the future.

Accordingly, on January 1, 1969, Brother Earl J. Fretz, Tau '64, returned to the Fraternity as its chief executive officer. We are pleased that we have acquired his services because we know that he can do the job; he has. He is familiar with our office routine because he helped set it up. He has visited all of our chapters and knows many of their strong and weak points. By acquiring Brother Fretz's services, we were able to avoid a costly and time-consuming period of job education.

The Executive Council office has also been moved from New York City to Ann Arbor, Michigan. This location presents certain definite advantages:

- A. Centralizing travel;
- B. The availability of competent secretarial personnel;
- C. The availability of more reasonable office space.

We feel that the moving of the headquarters and the acquisition of competent staff personnel far outweighs any inconvenience that this relocation has caused for the officers and members of the Executive Council, the Alumni Association Board of Governors, and the Psi Upsilon Foundation.

At the February 4, 1969 meeting of the Executive Council, it was reported that satisfactory office space had been found in Ann Arbor, Michigan, in the new Pauline Plaza on the southwest side of the city. This new office complex opened February 1, 1969. The monthly rent for our office space is $165. This compares with our $325 per month charge at the Columbia Club in New York. The number of square feet of floor space is equal. It was further reported that the Fraternity had sold six of the seven desks from the New York office, the couch, air-conditioners, the end tables, the typewriters, the drapes and the carpeting. The sale of the above mentioned items brought approximately $2,000 in miscellaneous income to the Fraternity. It also necessitated the acquisition of new equipment in Ann Arbor, but constituted a considerable savings to the Fraternity in obviating the necessity of moving this expensive, heavy and awkward equipment. It was the consensus of that meeting of the Executive Council that the Fraternity would save a substantial amount of money once the moving and establishment costs were met. Subsequent experience has justified this position.

At the May 4 meeting of the Executive Council, Brother Fretz stated that a pressing need existed for additional assistance in the areas of alumni contact and staff service. He contended that additional contact and service would yield increased cooperation from our undergraduate and alumni members. In order to better fulfill the Executive Council's responsibilities to the Fraternity, Brother Fretz proposed the establishment of a Board of Regional Directors and the hiring of an additional male staff member to act as a Service Secretary.

Under the provisions of the Regional Director program, each Regional Director is responsible for visiting and assisting the chapters in his geographic area. Our geographical territory is divided into six regions: The West Coast; Canada; Indiana, Michigan, Ohio; Illinois, Minnesota, Wisconsin; New York, Pennsylvania; and New England. It is the responsibility of each Regional Director to call to the attention of the Executive Council and its staff those situations with which we may be of assistance.

It was further suggested that young alumni in the age groups of 25-35 be recruited for these positions. Enlisting the assistance of talented young men will provide the Executive Council with access to thinking which is closer to the current campus scene. It will also provide a reservoir of talent from which the Executive Council can draw in the future. It was pointed out that under the present circumstances, young talent is not available to the Executive Council. By providing an opportunity for young men to participate in the affairs of the entire Fraternity, the Executive Council will be able to select its members in the future from people who have had a multi-chapter fraternity experience. Our Regional Directors will meet once or twice a year in order to discuss their problems and to structure their program. It is also anticipated that an effort will be made to enlist the cooperation and assistance of some of our most outstanding undergraduates in the formulation of this program. Among the purposes of the Regional Director meetings will be the reformation of our office operation so as to provide the most meaningful assistance to our undergraduates and alumni groups.

Regional Directors Program

After a thorough discussion of the Regional Directors program, a motion was made authorizing the implementation of said program to be directed by an ad-hoc committee of which Brother Henry B. Poor, Gamma '39, was selected to serve as chairman.

Brother Fretz stressed the need for additional male staff assistance as real and immediate. It was his contention that it is impossible for one staff officer to provide the Fraternity with the continuity of management which it needs at the same time to provide the coverage in the field which is absolutely necessary to the operation of our undergraduate chapters and alumni groups. Accordingly, Brother Edward R. Purcell, Psi '68, was appointed as Service Secretary of the Fraternity. The Service Secretary's duties are:

- A. Visit the chapters and provide specific operational assistance where needed;
- B. Generally assist the Executive Secretary in his duties on behalf of the Fraternity.

Chapter Visits

The following is a summary of reports made either by the Executive Council professional staff or by members of the Committee of Chapter Visits where either past or present problems have focused extra attention upon them or because of other noteworthy developments.

The Psi Upsilon Foundation has enjoyed a reasonable period of growth and expansion since its founding in 1959. The Investment Committee, which manages the portfolio of the Foundation, has stressed growth securities in order to build up the capital, so that the Foundation may better serve the needs of students in connection with their academic needs.

It is the hope of the Board of Directors that additional bequests will be forthcoming which will add to the endowment and, in turn, increase its income, so that the role of the Foundation will continue to grow.

Fifty per cent of the income of the Foundation goes for direct grants to applicants based upon their merit as determined by the Foundation Board's Grants Committee. The Grants Committee has done a fine job of screening the applicants. Recommendations were required from alumni organizations and college administrators.

At the annual meeting held June 3, 1969, the following awards were made for the academic year ending June, 1970:

The Francis C. Hardie Award

Gilbert Kehoe, Pi '70 $500.00

The Earl D. Babst Award

Robert Webb, Theta '70 $400.00

John Morris, Upsilon '70 300.00

Richard Hardej, Kappa '72 250.00

John E. Fricke, Xi '23, has been elected president of the Psi Upsilon Foundation

Richard Johnson, Eta '72	250.00
Robert Yeaton, Zeta '71	200.00
Steve Skipton, Epsilon Omega '72	200.00
Robert Strong, Iota '70	200.00
Charles McCormick, Upsilon '71	200.00
Frank Robertson, Epsilon Phi '70	100.00

The Foundation had a number of other very attractive and worthy applicants, but unfortunately the income available was not sufficient to cover the current requirements.

The other 50 per cent of the income, less minimal expenses, as all of the staff work and directors serve without pay, is used to supplement the aid given by the Executive Council to various chapters where guidance programs, tutorial plans, and in a few cases additions to chapter libraries for educational books, magazines and pamphlets can be established.

Brother John E. Fricke, Xi '23, and his staff of officers were elected for a one-year term, and the Fraternity is grateful that they have agreed to serve in this capacity.

The Foundation under Brother Fricke's direction looks forward to continuing growth and expanding services in a field where much is needed and will continue to be needed.

Noted Educators to Address Convention

Chancellor J. Roscoe Miller to Welcome Delegates

Dr. J. Roscoe Miller is in his 20th year as chief executive officer of Northwestern University. He was installed as the University's 12th president on October 8, 1949, and in March, 1969, was named to the new post of chancellor by the Board of Trustees. This promotion followed Trustee approval of top-level administrative changes designed to give Northwestern more effective means for meeting present requirements, and for taking advantage of growing opportunities. These changes include the election of a new president who will be responsible for the day-to-day running of the University as its chief operating officer. Dr. Miller remains as Northwestern's chief executive officer and will serve as both chancellor and president until the new president is named.

A specialist in cardiology, Dr. Miller rose through faculty ranks to become Northwestern's 12th president at the age of 44. He is the second Northwestern alumnus to achieve the University's top administrative post, to which he was named after serving eight years as dean of Northwestern's Medical School.

During his service as president, and now chancellor, these important achievements, among many others, have become part of the Miller administration record:

Establishment of the nation's first graduate study center in bio-medical engineering; development of the nation's first six-year medical education program; recruiting the most distinguished faculty in Northwestern's history, with a salary range now among the highest in the nation; continuing emphasis on maintaining a productive balance between science and the humanities—in the six-year medical program, for instance, the humanities are emphasized in each year of study; addition of vital new facilities, including a 15-story addition to the Medical School; construction of a new campus, named for Dr. Miller, by filling in 74 acres of Lake Michigan.

Dr. J. Roscoe Miller

Dr. Miller's major current interest is the First Plan for The Seventies, the most important and comprehensive development program ever undertaken in Northwestern's 118-year history. The Plan calls for raising $180 million by 1972, more than half of which had been received in gifts and pledges by the spring of 1969. An $11.6 million new library—containing entirely new concepts in library design—is scheduled for completion under the First Plan by the end of 1969.

The First Plan also calls for a new biological sciences building, a $9 million graduate student housing complex, new undergraduate housing facilities, a fine and performing arts center, and a University Center which will be a focal point for the life of the university community.

The physical facilities called for under the First Plan will provide support for new and expanded academic programs.

Dr. Miller holds the LL.D. degree from the University of Utah (1949), Northwestern University (1949), Bradley University (1950), Williams College (1950), Knox College (1957), University of Michigan (1957), Ohio Wesleyan (1959), Notre Dame (1964), and the University of Denver (1964). In 1951, he received the Sc.D. degree from the University of Arizona.

Noted Soviet Expert to Address Thursday Luncheon

R. Barry Farrell, professor of political science, director of undergraduate studies in political science, and co-director of the Graduate Program in Comparative Politics, is a specialist in comparative political systems and Soviet and Eastern European politics.

He has lectured and conducted research projects in Canada, Great Britain, Germany, and other countries in Western Europe. In addition, he has made many trips behind the Iron Curtain, visiting all the communist countries of Eastern Europe except Albania. A recent research project in which he was engaged concerned the formation of foreign policy in the Eastern European communist nations.

Professor Farrell has lectured at many American universities, including the Council of Soviet and East European Studies at Yale. He has also addressed the Institutes of International Relations in Poland, Czechoslovakia, and Yugoslavia, and has lectured at the Economic University in Budapest.

His most recent book is Approaches to Comparative and International Politics, published by the Northwestern University Press.

Before joining the Northwestern faculty in 1957, Professor Farrell taught at Yale and Harvard. He holds a Ph.D. degree from Harvard.

"Why Man Creates," produced for non-profit purposes by the Kaiser Aluminum and Chemical Corporation, is perhaps one of the best productions to be made for the enrichment of the general public. Directed by Saul Bass, this informative film has been acclaimed as Best Documentary Short Subject of 1968 by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences, in addition to the Golden Gate Award of the San Francisco International Film Festival and the Blue Ribbon Award for Public Relations Commercial Film at the American Film Festival.

In a world such as we live in today, change and innovation do not come as easily as one might suppose. To revise the systems and even the institutions of yesterday, we necessarily must encounter hindrances to what is projected in our mind. The road-block to creativity in our fraternity system cannot be specified as one man or one rule or even a group of rules and individuals. It is a way of thinking that could leave Psi Upsilon and others like it with nothing, while other organizations are creating new programs and revitalizing old ones.

This film, although having nothing to do in a direct sense with the fraternity system, attempts to convince the viewer that creativity belongs to everyone: accountants as well as artists, machinists as well as musicians. At present, our fraternity is witnessing a change which demands new insight. Changes, both in degree and kind, have spawned new problems which cannot be solved with old answers. There must be new solutions.

New answers for another new problem are sought in the second film, "The Seekers." Pot is better than alcohol: What is your answer? College students all over America are asking this question; a well formulated response is indisposable.

The themes that the movie exposes concern the illusion of controlled usage for any of the illegally used drugs and coping with reality and escape. Group therapy is employed by the drug users to rid themselves of their damaging habit. Valuable insights are gained into the drug world subculture. Why does one start smoking marijuana or "mainlining" heroine? This film brings to light the problem of drugs not as a lecture from doctors or scientists, but as a testimonial from those who have been caught in the web of drug abuse.

The New York State Narcotic Addiction Control Commission has already shown this film to approximately 3 million students in New York State and conducted lengthy discussions afterwards about the attitude of the film's protagonists towards drugs. At one meeting of some 300 undergraduate fraternity officers, the members responded that "the approach used in the film is the most effective with a group of our type in presenting the case against the use of drugs."

Annual Communication

Delta

The Delta continues to be blessed with one of Psi Upsilon's strongest, most interested groups of alumni. Under their leadership the chapter house and above all chapter morale continues in fine condition. Despite some recent difficulties in membership numbers, the Delta remains one of our strongest operations.

Gamma

The Gamma is composed of a group of strong, talented and energetic individuals who hold a deep concern for their chapter. There is a feeling among them that there must be more communication and interaction among the various chapters and Executive Council of our fraternity to make the ideals of Psi Upsilon more readily attainable.

Lambda

The Lambda Chapter remains beset by the serious problems that have caused its "probationary status." General university conditions, poor financial management, and a degree of unconcern among the undergraduates in general have made the operation of a strong chapter difficult. New and continuing programs from the Central Office and alumni are progressing in the areas of finance, rushing and leadership in a serious attempt to improve chapter conditions.

Psi

The Psi Chapter continues in its strong position on the Hamilton campus despite some doubt over the future of the entire fraternity system on that campus. Blessed with fine leadership and a strong pledge class, the chapter is striving to continue its progress, especially in the area of alumni relations.

Upsilon

The Upsilon has pledged 25 men and the active membership has now reached 64. The members of the Upsilon have continued to contribute substantially to the undergraduate life at the University of Rochester.

Chi

The Chi undergraduate chapter at Cornell is genuinely an outstanding undergraduate group. The Chi Alumni Association is also comprised of people of considerable distinction and substantial interest in and support for the Psi Upsilon program. Minor difficulties, a source of considerable distraction, are being corrected.

Beta Beta

Low membership numbers and a poor scholastic record at the Beta Beta have continued. The future of the chapter, currently on "project status," will remain uncertain until these difficulties have been remedied.

Eta

The Eta Chapter has made significant strides marked by increased participation and academic improvement. Fund-raising activities have been successful and a new wing added to the chapter house. The Eta feels that it will benefit greatly from the new Regional Directors program and increased personal contact and assistance from the Central Office.

Mu

The Mu has the potential to be one of our finest chapters, but has had a reputation of being somewhat slack. The chapter is particularly strongly represented in university athletics and with a strong pledge class, the Mu can progress in all needed areas.

Epsilon

The Epsilon has been beset with problems of small membership and the general turmoil on the Berkeley campus. The Epsilon can boast, however, both an outstanding group of undergraduates and alumni concerned for the chapter's welfare. With the help of the central office the Epsilon is undertaking its most ambitious rush program in years with high hopes of success.

Theta Theta

The Theta Theta Chapter at the University of Washington has consistently been one of our finest organizations and has an active membership of over 100. Plans are currently under discussion for a major long term improvement of the chapter house facility, but increased monetary assistance will be necessary.

Nu

The Nu Chapter has been operating at a level below that desired and expected of a Psi Upsilon chapter. Some improvement is expected with a change of chapter houses, but increased interest and help from the alumni are necessities if the Nu is to progress as is needed.

Epsilon Phi

Our chapter at McGill University has a well supervised financial operation, an excellent group of young alumni officers, a distinguished group of older alumni and a healthy sense of cooperation between the undergraduates and the alumni. The chapter is especially strong in its campus participation, but as with many of our other chapters, a strong rush this fall is a must.

Epsilon Nu

The Epsilon Nu continues to hold its high place in the strong Michigan State fraternity system. Its new group of officers hopes to coordinate its efforts and progress more closely than ever with the rest of Psi Upsilon.
