Nobody Would Ask Me, But:

If "The Owl" were asked what he believes to be the single most important factor affecting the best interests of the Psi Upsilon Fraternity, he would have to sift through many vital areas and settle upon communication. This element underlies virtually everything else that we undertake in the Fraternity.

In this day and age it is not difficult to select communication as the subject of this editorial. Our whole life seems to depend upon communication. Our newspapers and magazines, our radio and television programs keep us updated on local and world events. We are greatly influenced by the media in our thinking and in our approach to much of daily living.

Effective communication is a "must" for Psi Upsilon. Our thousands of alumni are scattered all over the United States and Canada, as well as in foreign lands. They are entitled to know all that is going on in the Fraternity today — the new developments, reports from the Chapters, alumni in the news, brief biographies of those who have passed on, and more.

We do catch a glimpse of Fraternity activities in the letters each year soliciting our support for the Annual Giving program. The importance of these letters cannot be overestimated, for alumni contributions provide more than one-half of Psi Upsilon's operating income. But this channel of communication is not enough, not nearly enough. Let us not forget other means of communication also very much in evidence. Chapter newsletters, Founder's Day occasions, Homecomings, reunions — all have their place. But these hardly suffice.

During our undergraduate years in college we found a togetherness in joining Psi Upsilon which gave meaning to our fraternity experience. We worked together and we played together. We laughed together and we cried together. We met together to perform the traditional rituals, to debate issues, to resolve problems. We strove together for the good of the Chapter, for the good of the college or university, for the good of the community. We were in constant communication.

When we graduated, however, and sought our niche in the "real world," our togetherness inevitably was stretched. Some have been fortunate enough to be able to keep in close touch with their Chapter. Others have found themselves at a considerable distance, and the gap has widened with the passage of time. There has been nothing intentional about it. Other things simply have crowded in.

There has to be an answer to this diminishing togetherness. "Bond fraternal, bond eternal" we sing. We need to be reminded that we are brothers in the bonds, not just for our college years, but linked together for life. The key is communication and more communication.

For twenty thousand alumni and undergraduates clearly the most effective medium of communication is The Diamond. In truth we are entitled to receive this publication quarterly. At the time of our initiation our membership fee paid for a lifetime subscription to the magazine. Yet for too long now issues have been forthcoming sporadically at best. The problem has been one of manpower difficulties. Periodically they seemed to be resolved, but the solutions proved to be only temporary.

Now we try again. Preparation deadlines have been set and printing schedules arranged whereby we hope to accelerate the publication of issues until our catch-up program can be completed. The Fraternity wants its alumni to know what is going on. These are exciting days for Psi Upsilon, and our alumni should be enabled to share in that excitement.

For the patience and forbearance of our readers we are deeply grateful. Communication, communication! Here we come!

The President's Message

Hazing must stop!

For many years hazing was a way of life with many fraternities. The paddle never created good friends or better brothers. But hazing stupidly went on.

Since 1974 at least twelve hazing deaths have been reported. These were outrageous and useless. Perhaps less tragic but certainly just as useless have been the many indignities and humiliations heaped upon pledges under the guide of fostering true brotherhood.

Let's be honest. Activities which do not contribute to the positive development and welfare of prospective members do not build loyal and true brotherhood, whatever traditions they may perpetuate.

Many states of late have passed laws making hazing a serious crime, punishable by up to eighteen months in jail and a $7,500 fine. Colleges and fraternities likewise are mounting a concerted effort to stamp out any remaining vestiges of this harmful practice.

There are various degrees of hazing. Anything which physically, mentally, or psychologically upsets a potential brother constitutes hazing. Expressed another way, hazing may be described as any act which affronts the dignity of man.

No recent addition to our Fraternity's Constitution is Article X, Section 1, which states: The Psi Upsilon Fraternity declares itself unalterably opposed to hazing, which is defined as any activity of the Fraternity or its individual members which causes or is likely to cause mental or physical damage or harm, or creates an impression that is detrimental to the public image of Psi Upsilon. Any Chapter which violates this principle shall be subject to disciplinary action by the Executive Council or by a three-fourths vote at the next ensuing Convention.

Now Psi Upsilon is joining with all other members of the National Interfraternity Conference in the adoption of the following stand:

BE IT RESOLVED THAT The National Interfraternity Conference hereby unequivocally repeats its historic repudiation of any pre-initiation or initiation practices antithetical to the laws and underlying principles for which each member fraternity stands;

FURTHER, That this body expects each fraternity to take appropriate action to implement the intent of this resolution;

FURTHER, That the Conference not only records its continuing disapproval of hazing in the strongest possible terms, but declares its intention to monitor closely the incidence of this activity through the establishment of a special ad hoc committee for such purpose.

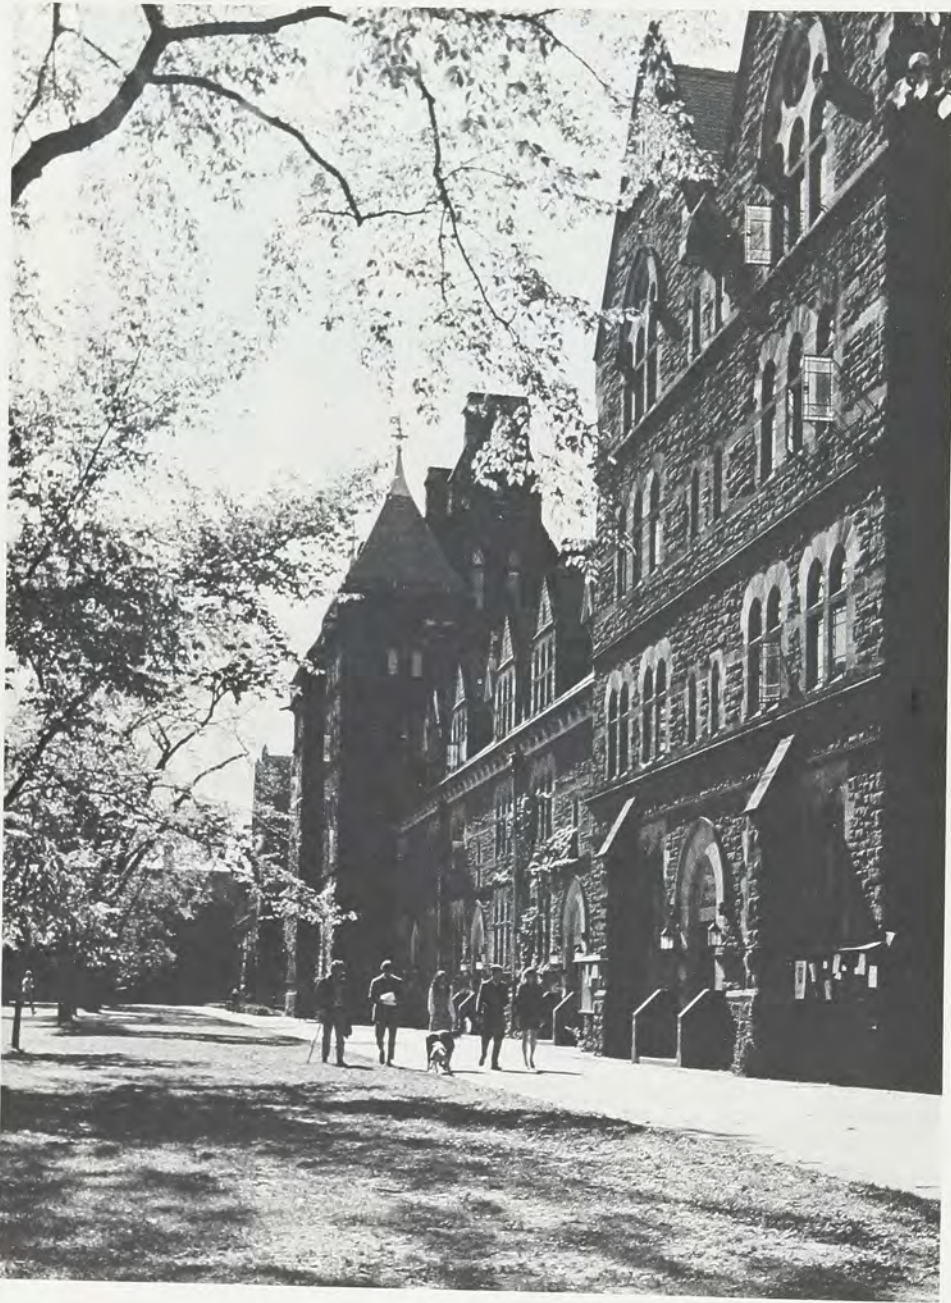

Delegates to the 138th Convention in Vancouver, British Columbia on August 19-22, 1981 will consider additional steps to support its position. Psi Upsilon clearly and unmistakably rejects the practice of hazing in any form and to any degree.

Yours in the Bonds,

Russ McShane

THE LONG WALK AT TRINITY COLLEGE

Historic row of buildings serving variously over the years as dormitory, classroom, library, office, and chapel.

Trinity College has maintained a distinguished presence in the Hartford area since its founding in 1823. At that time it was only the second college in the State of Connecticut. Trinity's first campus consisted of two Greek Revival-style buildings on a site now occupied by the State Capitol. The College moved to its present location on Summit Street in 1878.

Today the campus comprises some eighty-six acres, with playing fields and an architecturally eclectic collection of dormitories and classroom buildings. Many are in the collegiate Gothic style of architecture, including Jarvis and Seabury (completed in 1878) and Northam Towers (1881) and the magnificent Gothic chapel, completed in 1932. Trinity's exceptionally fine library contains 606,000 volumes, including the valuable 140,000 volume Watkinson collection, and has space for 650 readers.

Evidence of the historical ties between Trinity and Psi Upsilon abounds everywhere. The Albert C. Jacobs Life Sciences Center, one of the newest and most advanced buildings on campus, perpetuates the name of Trinity's President from 1953 to 1968. Dedicated in service to Psi Upsilon throughout his life, Albert C. Jacobs, Phi '21 is the only alumnus ever to carry the full administrative responsibilities of the Fraternity and simultaneously to hold the positions of President of the Executive Council and Editor of the Diamond.

The imposing Gothic chapel mentioned above was the gift of William Gwinn Mather, Beta Beta 1877, erected at a cost of approximately $2,000,000. His name also graces the Mather Campus Center. The distinguished McCook family, four members of whom were Beta Beta alumni, is remembered in the McCook Math-Physics Center. Even the beautiful College anthem, Neath the Elms, was written by a Psi U — Augustus P. Burgwin, Beta Beta 1882.

Currently there are twenty-eight majors established at Trinity leading to the undergraduate degree. In addition, the College, in cooperation with the Hartford Graduate Center, offers a combined five-year engineering program leading to a Master of Engineering degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, New York. Degree programs in graduate studies are offered in: economics, education, English, history, mathematics, and philosophy. Three interdisciplinary programs lead to the Master's degree: American studies, the Liberal Arts, and Public Policy studies.

The College's academic excellence was recognized as early as 1845 when it became the eighth college in the country to be granted a chapter of Phi Beta Kappa. In the last three decades, the College has tripled in size but has retained its original intent — to be a small but excellent liberal arts college. The student body numbers 1,700 men and women, and there are 140 full-time faculty members, an extremely high proportion of whom have Ph.D.'s. The College has always maintained a good ratio of faculty to students.

Trinity is a cultural center for the Greater Hartford area, with many of its events open to the public without charge. The College offers a range of activities designed to accommodate intellectual, cultural, recreational and athletic pursuits. During the academic year there is a full schedule of concerts, dances, plays, films, lectures, recitals and special musical programs, panel discussions and receptions with faculty members. Throughout the summer College activities continue with Summerstage theatre events and the increasingly popular carillon concerts on Wednesday evenings.

In the athletics area Trinity is a charter member of the New England Intercollegiate Athletic Association and a member of the New England Small College Athletic Conference. Trinity competes in football, cross country, soccer, and water polo in the fall; basketball, swimming, hockey, wrestling, squash racquets, and fencing in the winter; and baseball, track, golf, lacrosse, crew, and tennis in the spring. Intercollegiate competition for women is available in field hockey, squash racquets, fencing, basketball, crew, tennis, lacrosse, swimming, softball, soccer and track. Traditional sports rivals include Amherst, Williams and Wesleyan, but Trinity also competes with Ivy League powers such as Yale, Harvard, Dartmouth, and Princeton.

Delta Presentation to New York University

Many out-of-town brothers have not had an opportunity to see the Great Room in the Delta's new Chapter House.

On one wall hang large portraits of A. Ogden Butler, Delta 1853, Orrin S. Wightman, Delta '96, and Francis L. Gould, Delta '05. Between the pictures are three diamond-shaped frames, each containing four Wedgwood Centennial Plates. These handsome memorial plates were given to the House by Donald L. Frazier, Delta '22.

Franklin F. Russell, Delta '11 passed away on March 29, 1978. Besides leaving bequests to the Delta Chapter and to Psi Upsilon in his will, he bequeathed to the House another dozen Wedgwood Centennial Plates. The Delta's Board of Directors felt these were too valuable to use, and it was not possible to display a second set, so it was decided to present them to New York University.

The University did not have a complete set of the Wedgwood plates, and hence they accepted these with gratitude as part of the Sesquicentennial Celebration. The memorial plates have been framed and placed at the entrance of the Snow Memorial Dining Room in the Elmer Holmes Bobst Library. They are truly beautiful. The name plate reads:

From Black Book to Beta Beta Chapter: A Century of Tradition and Distinction

The privilege of hosting the 137th Psi Upsilon Convention in 1980 was awarded to the Beta Beta Chapter at Trinity College in Hartford, Connecticut. This marked the One Hundredth Anniversary of the Chapter's affiliation with the Fraternity.

Actually the Beta Beta had been in existence for thirty-eight years as a local fraternity before joining the ranks of the other seventeen Chapters. Back in 1842 the Beta Beta Society was founded at what was then Washington College in Connecticut's capital city. The original name was the "Black Book," which had primarily a dual object, simply and concisely set forth as the "promotion of scholarship and friendly relations." William U. Colt 1844, Thomas S. Preston 1843, and Henry T. Welles 1843 served as the nucleus of this new society.

The members held lengthy orations on classical subjects. Many of them were studying for ordination in the Episcopal Church and were profound students of Latin and Greek. Their motto became "Procul O procul este profani." They included as an order of business "literary exercises" when, weekly, one member would read an essay he had written, discuss some classical subject, or perhaps recite a poem of his own authorship.

During the early 1870's the idea concerning affiliation with a national Greek letter society was often discussed by the members of the Beta Beta. In June, 1877 the movement toward affiliation with Psi Upsilon was in full swing. Not only were active members of the society considering the proposals but alumni likewise were taking part in the deliberations.

In June of 1879 a Psi Upsilon committee gathered in New Haven by authority and appointment of the Convention of the previous month. This committee met with a similarly appointed group representing the Beta Beta Society to discuss matters relative to the petition of the Trinity College group. The Beta Beta representatives registered certain conditions in their petition, one of these being the stipulation that all Beta Beta alumni would be inducted into Psi Upsilon, as well as the active members.

Before this, in 1872, some 30 years after its founding, several graduate members had organized the Colt Trust Association, named in honor of the Reverend William U. Colt, one of the founders of the order. This association was formed to give the society a continuing medium for the holding of real property or trust funds. Today it is headed by Dennis Dix, Jr. '66.

In the fall of 1879 Chapter after Chapter of the seventeen then enrolled in Psi U quickly gave approval to the admittance of the Beta Beta Society. The formal exercises were held in the Beta Beta Chapter Hall at 7 o'clock on the night of February 5, 1880.

The Beta Beta Chapter completed in the summer of 1884 what was described by the local press as "one of the finest and most attractive secret society buildings connected with any New England college." This house was located on the corner of Park and Washington Streets. It was of secular Gothic architecture and was constructed of Portland (Connecticut) brownstone with Ohio yellow sandstone trimmings. The cost of the house, finished and furnished, approached the $25,000 mark.

After the college had moved to its present location in 1902, the undergraduates approached the alumni to explain the desirability of a new home adjacent to the new campus. That same year the Beta Beta purchased its present quarters at 81 Vernon Street — a fourteen-room Colonial house, one of the showplaces of its day.

The Beta Beta always has taken great pride in retaining its oldest traditions. At the time of its affiliation with Psi Upsilon everything possible was done to safeguard the hallowed customs that had developed in the nearly four decades of the Beta Beta Society's existence. Traditions have been handed down from generation to generation.

The Chapter's contribution to the College and the world at large has been far in excess of its numerical strength. On the Board of Trustees Psi U's have been conspicuous in their leadership. No fraternity is better represented at alumni gatherings than the Beta Beta.

Approximately two hundred Beta Beta men have been ordained in the ministry in various denominations, and at least twenty have risen to the high office of bishop in the Episcopal Church. Psi Upsilon alumni of Trinity have made their mark in the fields of medicine, law, business, finance, insurance, and industry; in science, chemistry, and engineering; in art, literature, music, and public office; as college presidents and professors and as teachers in public and private schools; and in military service when our nation has been at war.

Hosting a Psi Upsilon Convention is not a new experience for the Beta Beta. Psi Upsilon delegates first met at Trinity in 1885, then in 1906, again in 1935, and most recently in 1964.

Present Beta Beta Chapter House acquired in 1902, designed by well-known Hartford architect Edward Hapgood.

Chartered by 1980 Convention Committee for Connecticut River boat trip

Connecticut River Cruise Highlights 1980 Convention

A Connecticut River boat trip was announced by the Beta Beta Convention Committee as one of the major events of the 137th Psi Upsilon Convention in Hartford, Connecticut on August 20-23, 1980.

Chartered for the occasion has been the M/V Viking, a riverboat with two decks, accommodating 150 passengers, similar to the vessel pictured on this page. Moored at Deep River, Connecticut, an hour's bus trip from Hartford, the Viking proceeds down the scenic Connecticut River to New London and then returns after dark, a three-hour cruise.

Plans called for entertainment throughout the trip provided by Schaefer's Snappy Sextet, a band specializing in Dixieland music. Scheduled as the pièce de résistance has been a traditional New England clambake, with steamed clams, New England clam chowder, lobster, corn-on-the-cob, cole slaw, and watermelon for dessert.

Beta Beta alumni responsible for the boat trip arrangements include Harry H. Graves '78 and H. Brereton Hall, Jr. '74, Co-Chairmen, with James H. Arnold '77 and John T. Linehan '76, Boat Trip Co-Chairmen.

The Nu Chapter Lives Again

Seven years of inactivity for the Nu Chapter at the University of Toronto came to a close with appropriate ceremonies surrounding the initiation of five undergraduates on March 3, 1980.

A weekend of pre-initiation activities conducted by Nu alumni at the country home of Keith B. McMillan '49 culminated in the formal initiations and banquet on Monday evening at the Carlton Club in Toronto. Peter C. S. Nicoll '65 presided at the former, and Thomas C. Wright '65, President of the Psi Upsilon Alumni Association of Toronto, served as the dinner's master of ceremonies.

Official recognition of the Nu Chapter's renewed status was extended by J. Russell McShane, Delta '32, President of the Executive Council. Henry B. Poor, Gamma '39, Executive Vice President, traced the Chapter's distinguished sixty-year history. Gifts were presented from a number of other Chapters, and the toastmaster read letters of greeting from Executive Council members, undergraduate Chapters, and their alumni organizations.

Much of the credit for the Toronto Chapter's reactivation must be given to Michael L. Huffman, Zeta '77 and Michael J. Crane, Omega '79, the Fraternity's successive Field Directors, and to Brother Wright, Peter B. Cozzi '70, David N. Hertzman '72, Bryan Hughes '68, and Paul V. Johnston '70. Preliminary steps were initiated by Brother McShane and Robert W. Morey, Pi '20, former President of the Executive Council, on a visit to Toronto in July, 1978.

On December 18, 1900 nineteen students at the University of Toronto organized a fraternal order to promote "intimate friendship and social culture." Four months later the local society presented its first petition for membership to the Psi Upsilon Convention. But it was fourteen petitions later before Chi Delta Psi finally was accepted by the Convention. Thirty-one undergraduates and fifty-three alumni were initiated on April 24, 1920 into Psi Upsilon's twenty-seventh Chapter.

The new initiates, all in the Class of 1983 at the University of Toronto's School of Commerce and Finance, are: Pierre R. Barcik, II, Brian D. Cavell, William J. Dawson, Terry M. Dilozir, and Mark C. Newton.

Representing the Fraternity's undergraduate membership at the reactivation exercises were Merrill N. Bradley, Jr. '80 and Mark E. Brown '81 of the Upsilon Chapter, as well as David J. M. Barry '81 and Pierre F. McLean '81 of the Epsilon Phi Chapter.

Besides Brothers McShane, Poor, and Crane, Executive Council members present were: A. Durston Dodge, Theta '44 and Joseph A. Esquirol, Delta '17.

Of the forty in all who attended the Carlton Club occasion, numbered among Nu alumni on hand, in addition to those mentioned above, were: Richard Agro '74, Robert W. Cameron '55, R. Hardiman Collins '69, David E. Deslauriers '57, Harvey J. Knott '63, William J. Loftus '60, John M. Magwood '33, Walter R. Murray '55, James K. Scullion '67, Terry Skrien '69, J. Gordon Smeaton, Jr. '59, Donald A. Stewart '57, Pierre D. Taillon '55, and Colyn R. Williams '51.

Life With a Psi U Father

Virginia Kleitz Moseley of Barrington, Illinois, wife of a former Yale football captain and nationally known free lance author, writes a Father's Day tribute to the late William L. Kleitz, Chi '15, president of what is now the Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York City.

Her moving article has been submitted by Robert W. Morey, Pi '20, former president of the Executive Council and a vice president of the bank under Brother Kleitz, who adds his own reminiscences as a great admirer:

"This tribute brings back many memories to one who knew him well. He was always ready to talk over a business problem, which usually involved reading a descriptive memo. While reading the memo, he would whistle softly and make any necessary punctuation changes as he proceeded. Afterwards he would always say, 'What do you think?' If he disagreed, he'd say so, too.

"In addition, he had a photographic mind, which sometimes was astonishing. On one occasion I accompanied him to Worcester, Massachusetts to have luncheon with about twenty customers of the bank, most of whom he had never met. He had asked me to bring a short personal history of each guest, his business, etc., together with the seating arrangement. On the way to Worcester by plane he asked to see the information. He read it once, looked at the seating chart, and without any further questions handed it back to me. I was somewhat disappointed. During his luncheon speech, however, he welcomed each guest by name, together with his business and his relations with the Guaranty Trust Co., a remarkable performance."

I don't know if your father played games and told stories with you and your friends when you were a child, but mine did. And I guess I was lucky. I can't remember anyone else's dad tossing the ball tirelessly, taking us to the zoo on Saturdays, and pointing out the first yellow dog-tooth violets and pale lavender hepaticas as we walked in the woods in the spring.

At the time, Daddy was working hard as a young clerk in the competitive world of Wall Street finances. After college, he was a cub reporter on the N.Y. Herald Tribune, covering important stories like the rescue of cats from trees by the fire department. But because pay was too small to support a family, he had started at the bottom of the banking business.

He had reason to be tired at night,

William L. Kleitz, Chi '15
He played games and told stories.

commuting from city to country after wrestling with deposits, but there was always time for me and my gang. He had the utter devotion of spindly-legged, dark-haired Sally, sturdy blue-eyed Bill and his plump little sister Peggy, Mildred Ruth with her missing front tooth, and the children across the street. In our neighborhood, Daddy was the father figure we looked up to. Of course, they all had perfectly good daddies but I hardly remember them. . . . By contrast, when I met Mildred after some 30 years, the first thing she said was, "You had the most wonderful father!"

Daddy was very handsome, with dark brown hair and chiseled features, but didn't seem aware of his looks. All I recall was the kindness in his blue eyes and the fact that he was tall enough to play "Squirrel Going Down the Tree." This was one of his games for young children. He would lift one to his shoulder, turn him upside down and let him wriggle head-first down Daddy's side to the ground, squealing with delight. The next child would be eagerly waiting and it was like an assembly line, up, down and around. Hardly as exciting for Daddy as for his little admirers, but you didn't know him. Patience was his long suit!

Then there were the pennies in the telephone pole. There was a large field in the back of our house with one lone pole, which in the fall was knee-deep in purple joy-pye weed and goldenrod. From time to time, Daddy would put pennies in the cracks for us to find and, though we knew who did it, we never peeped. It was much more fun to pretend the fairies had been by.

Both Mother and Daddy taught me generosity early. How many little children offer Santa refreshments after his long trip? Aren't they usually thinking only of their long list, "What I want for Christmas?" My parents gave me the chance to be doubly blessed. I would put out milk and cookies on the hearth for Mr. Claus and oh! the warm feeling on seeing the empty glass and the plate the next morning. The gifts under the tree, the bulging red stocking were exciting, of course, but to think that Santa had munched my cookies as he flew through the midnight sky gave me the first lesson in the old adage, "It is more blessed to give than to receive."

On Easter, the ritual was repeated, only in deference to the Bunny's diet, a carrot and lettuce leaf were offered.

Daddy had other virtues, but to my musical Mother, his inability to sing on key was painful. Yet, I remember his walking the floor with me at night when I had the colliwobbles, singing an old college crew song to the tune of "Camptown Races." It told the story of the Big Red getting stuck in the weeds, but by the time Daddy's atonal voice came to the words, "The Cornell crew it shook itself loose," I would be sound asleep.

Daddy's earliest stories concerned Loblie-by-the-fire, a very lazy goblin. Whether he was a real figure in Irish folklore or invented by Daddy, I don't know, but Lob was never around when chores needed to be done. When Daddy graduated from Cornell University, he was voted Laziest Man in the Class (did he have an affinity for Lob?). He was also voted Most Likely to Succeed.

He did succeed and became head of his bank. He had a fine career, served on many charitable boards and dined at the White House three times when Ike was President. He never lost his humility, sweetness and unselfish interest in others and was cut down early in his 60's by a tragic accident. Although he had many tributes paid to him, I like to remember the time little Peggy came to our door, carrying a ball and bat. She rang the bell and Mother appeared, ready to tell her I had to clean my room. But the question was, "Mrs. Kleitz, can Mr. Kleitz come out and play?"

With the Zeta Zeta
VANCOUVER
August
19-23

Spectacularly situated atop the Point Grey Peninsula, the University of British Columbia offers breathtaking views of the splendid harbor formed by Howe Sound and the Strait of Georgia and of the rugged mountains beyond that remain snowcapped for the entire year. The campus is a convenient 20 minutes from the Vancouver International Airport and just an easy 15-minute drive from the heart of downtown Vancouver.

Canada's third largest metropolis, its gateway to the Pacific, with a population of 1,800,000, Vancouver enjoys a natural setting that is surpassed by few other cities in the world. Within minutes one can lie on a sandy beach, hike along a forest trail, or ski down a nearby mountain.

This will be the site of Psi Upsilon's 138th Convention on August 19-23, 1981. Here we shall meet — undergraduates from 30 Chapters, Executive Council members, alumni and their families from all over the United States and Canada. For the first time since it became Psi Upsilon's twenty-ninth Chapter in 1935 — nearly a half century ago — we shall be privileged to enjoy the hospitality of the Zeta Zeta Chapter, in which the Fraternity takes great pride.

We shall be together for five days of fine fellowship, serious work, and good times. The course of the Fraternity is determined by the actions of the Convention. In addition to the general meetings, committee sessions, workshops, and regional conferences, highlights will include a salmon barbecue, an undergraduate trip to Chinatown, an alumni cocktail party at the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club, and the Convention banquet. The business agenda should prove to be both stimulating and productive, the special events enjoyable and memorable.

The Convention Committee, chaired by Edward E. ("Ted") Jefferys, Zeta Zeta '52 for the alumni and Gregory A. Wilson, Zeta Zeta '82 for the undergraduates, and the Fraternity staff have been hard at work making the necessary preparations for what may well be one of the finest Conventions in recent years. All alumni and undergraduate brothers are cordially invited and warmly encouraged to attend all Convention and Regional Conference functions. Special events are planned for wives, who will be most welcome.

If you are able to attend any or all of the events, kindly fill out the registration form on Page D of this insert and mail it to the Fraternity Office by August 10. Last minute decisions can be telephoned there at (215) 647-4830. Or just come — and check in at the registration table when you reach Vancouver.

We hope to see a good many of you there!

Dick Dadey, Pi '80 — The Fraternity's Fifth Field Director

Reaching into the ranks of 1980's graduating seniors, the Executive Council selected Richard Dennis Dadey, Jr. of Syracuse, New York as its fifth field director. The Pi Chapter thereupon joined the Delta, Omicron, Zeta, and Omega in representation on the Fraternity staff in this position, known in its first years as the Psi Upsilon Fellow.

Brother Dadey comes to this office with gold star credentials, including a remarkable familiarity with the fraternity world. At Syracuse University he was president of the Interfraternity Council, encompassing the twenty-four undergraduate men's fraternities. In his junior year he was a member of the University Judicial Board. He was employed during his senior year as administrative assistant to the director of Fraternity and Sorority Services, a purchasing cooperative for the Greek houses on campus. A member of Phi Kappa Alpha, he was one of eight seniors elected to this honorary leadership society for their contributions to the University community.

Despite having to assume responsibility for a large portion of his educational expenses, Dick Dadey was heavily involved in Psi Upsilon activities. He served as co-social chairman of the Pi during the first semester of his sophomore year, then became steward and house manager for a year, and finally was chosen the Chapter's first alumni relations chairman. His peers selected him for the Psi Upsilon Junior Key Award in 1979.

For his last two years in college Brother Dadey was the recipient of a Psi Upsilon Foundation scholarship grant. He attended the Fraternity's 135th and 136th conventions held with the Xi at Middletown, Connecticut and with the Mu in Minneapolis respectively. In 1979-80 he served as one of the four undergraduate members of the Executive Council.

The responsibilities of the field director are critical to the strength and progress of the Fraternity. As Chapter consultant he spends several days at each Chapter House and works very closely with the officers of all Chapters throughout the year. With the undergraduate regional representatives he plans and directs the five or more regional conferences held annually throughout the United States and Canada. In addition, to a greater degree than any other member, he is the motivator and recruiter for new and reactivated Chapters.

Like his two immediate predecessors Brother Dadey was invited by the senior staff members of Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity to join their newly appointed chapter consultants in an extensive and sophisticated summer training program at their Indianapolis headquarters. This sharing constitutes a unique and extraordinary example of the valuable cooperation between fraternities today.

The Expanding Role of Psi Upsilon

BROTHERHOOD: THE BEGINNING

When Psi Upsilon was founded in 1833, the role of a fraternity was that of a "brotherhood," a bonding of men who joined together for both common and individual good. This aspect of our Fraternity has never changed and will ever remain the foundation of Psi Upsilon.

We often have wondered whether our founders ever imagined the growth Psi Upsilon would experience. Today we have nearly twenty thousand living alumni and over thirteen hundred undergraduates in twenty-nine active chapters and one provisional chapter.

More importantly, the role of Psi Upsilon in a young man's life has continued to expand with each decade. In the future the Psi Upsilon Foundation will play an increasingly significant part in the lives of young Psi U's. Consider the role of the Fraternity and the Foundation:

GUIDANCE

For most young men the college experience is the first step toward independence, the first time the student is not under the direct guidance of his parents. Psi Upsilon has long been active in providing undergraduates with fundamental moral and spiritual guidance — the same guidance one would receive from a mature brother.

While each Chapter sets its own standards and develops its own methods of guiding its members, the Executive Council has established a set of Chapter standards to insure that each member is receiving positive reinforcement from his Psi Upsilon brothers.

SCHOLARSHIP

Psi Upsilon's emphasis on scholarship has been evident from the earliest days of the brotherhood. Because a member's primary concern as an undergraduate is to obtain a quality education, the Psi Upsilon Foundation has stressed the need for scholastic achievement.

The Foundation has awarded scholarships since 1959 and was originally formed to assist the pursuit of scholastic attainment. The role of the Fraternity and the Foundation in scholarship has been expanded to include faculty advisors and incentives for Chapter achievement.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING

One role of critical importance today in a young Psi U's life is his training for leadership. Today's complex world, compounded with the impersonal approach of most colleges and universities, has resulted in generations of young Americans who are ill prepared for the challenges and responsibilities which must be met in life.

The erosion of fundamental values among young men has many causes. Psi Upsilon recognized the void of leadership training and has established programs to educate our undergraduates about leadership, responsibility, meeting challenges, free enterprise, and citizenship.

The Foundation plans to underwrite the cost of Psi Upsilon's leadership sessions, which will bring together a good many students each year for workshops and seminars on leadership training, assertiveness, management techniques, finances, running a business, marketing techniques, patriotism, community service, and other related topics.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Today the Psi Upsilon Foundation is in the first stages of developing a Career Internship Program which will directly involve alumni in training students. Alumni participating in the Career Internship Program will be asked to accept one or more undergraduates (the student must be interested in pursuing the alumnus' career field) for full or short term summer employment.

The objective of the program is to allow each young Psi U the opportunity to experience his chosen career before he graduates. This enriches the student in three ways:

1. He returns to the campus motivated to seek the knowledge which will be the lifeblood of his career.
2. He has a head start in seeking a career position, offering potential employers sound experience.
3. The program enables some students to realize that the career they envisioned is not the career they ultimately desire.

ALUMNI ASSISTANCE

It is interesting that our first graduating classes set a strong pattern of alumni participation. Indeed it was our first few alumni who spearheaded the movement to expand Psi Upsilon and to nurture the infant organization with their time, talent, and their "treasure" — alumni gifts.

This initial pattern has remained true, with more alumni than ever now assisting the Psi Upsilon Fraternity, the Foundation, local chapter alumni organizations, alumni advisor programs, and a highly successful annual fundraising appeal which has involved thousands of alumni as contributors.

Necrology

Note: A complete listing of all brothers whose deaths have been reported to the Fraternity office is published regularly in the Necrology section of THE DIAMOND. This issue's listing includes the names of deceased alumni, with place and date of death where known, received between December 1, 1977 and March 21, 1980. A Chapter in parentheses following a name indicates double Chapter affiliation. Brief obituaries of brothers for whom biographical information has been forwarded are published as space permits.
