ABOUT THIS ISSUE

THIS SPECIAL autumn/winter of the The DIAMOND is a special undertaking. While the magazine traditionally profiles the achievements of several alumni, this issue recognizes more than 100 brothers who have excelled as athletes or sports personalities. It is important that we not only recognize these men of the past and present for their achievements, but also for their success in enhancing Psi Upsilon.

Countless hours went into researching the Fraternity's archives, including past issues of The DIAMOND, old membership directories and files of photographs,

Arms of the Sigma Chapter

The coat-of-arms of all of Psi U's chapters have been recreated and are on display at the International Office. Each of the arms features elements unique to the chapter, including its motto.

Corrections

Brother George M. Dallas Peltz, Tau '67 (University of Pennsylvania) was erroneously included in the "In Memoriam" section of the summer issue. Brother Peltz is alive and well in Demarest, N.J.

Award

At the 1996 Conference of the College Fraternity Editors Association, The DIAMOND was honored with an award. "The Past is Prologue" feature (Spring 1996) placed second in the "Innovative Use of Routine Material" category. It has been 10 years since the magazine was last honored by the CFEA.

to find the information found in this special issue. The majority of the information was compiled by Jay Langhammer, the sports editor of The Rainbow, the magazine of Delta Tau Delta Fraternity. He is a noted historian on Greeks in athletics and entertainment, and has written 33 articles for various fraternity magazines. The last time he wrote for The DIAMOND was in 1986 when he put together the all-time football team, which has now been updated.

The alumni featured in this issue are only those we had reference to. While The DIAMOND always welcomes feedback, we certainly hope alumni and friends will take the opportunity to inform us of those brothers we neglected to include, so they may be featured in future issues.

Also of special interest, "The Chapters Report" features remastered versions of the chapters' coat-of-arms. Psi Upsilon is one of only two fraternities whose chapters have their own coat-of-arms.

The idea for individual chapter coat-of-arms began in 1894 when the Convention appointed a committee on heraldry. The following year, all 21 chapters had a coat-of-arms. A major effort was made to update the arms in anticipation of the publication of the Annals of Psi Upsilon in 1941, and finally, this year, all coat-of-arms have been digitally recreated – in color – and are on display at the International Office. ♦

ALL-TIME FOOTBALL TEAM

EXACTLY 10 YEARS AGO, The DIAMOND featured an all-time Psi Upsilon football first team consisting of eleven players.

Since then, additional research into the careers of the Fraternity's leading players and some newer initiates has been considered, allowing us the luxury of revising our earlier choices. This time around, the new all-time team consists of both an offensive and defensive platoon, which makes sense because many of Psi U's earlier Hall of Famers played both ways.

The Psi Upsilon football legacy is a great one, and includes such men as the first Heisman Trophy winner, Jay Berwanger, Omega '36 (University of Chicago); Heisman Trophy runner-up Ed Marinaro, Chi '72 (Cornell University); and coaching legends Amos Alonzo Stagg, Beta 1888 (Yale University) and Bud Wilkinson, Mu '34 (University of Minnesota); plus 11 other members of the National Football Foundation College Hall of Fame.

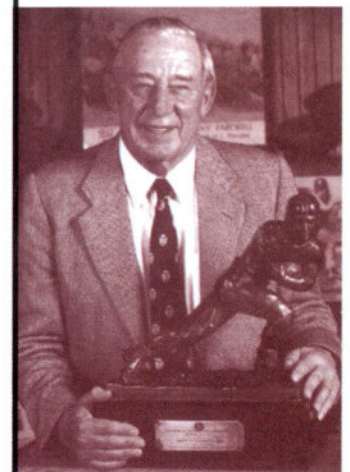

Jay Berwanger, Omega '36

In 23 games for the Maroons, Chicago's "one man gang" gained more than a mile from scrimmage – a net yardage of 1,839, or an average of 4.19 for 439 attempts. He is the first recipient of the Heisman Trophy.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, Beta 1888

Stagg received countless accolades for his contributions to football during his amazing 57 years as a coach.

Leading the offensive backfield is Jay Berwanger, Omega '36 (University of Chicago), who won the Heisman in 1935 and was the first player ever to be drafted by the NFL. A two-time All-American and Helms Player of the Year for 1935, he rushed for 1,839 yards, threw for 921 yards and scored 152 points over three years. Brother Berwanger was elected to the College Hall of Fame in 1954 and was chosen for the Modern Era All-time All-American first team in 1969.

Two-time NCAA rushing leader Ed Marinaro, Chi '72 (Cornell University), still ranks as Division I-A leader in career yards per game (174.6) and career rushes per game (34.0). Heisman Trophy runner-up in 1971, he was the first collegian to rush for more than 4,000 yards in three seasons, averaging 5.1 per carry (4,715 yards on 918 rushing attempts) and ranks second in Division I-A career points per game (11.8, 318 points). During six NFL seasons, Brother Marinaro rushed for 1,319 yards and caught 146 passes for 1,176 yards. He was inducted into the College Hall of Fame in 1991.

Highly ranked in 1968 NCAA stats was quarterback Marty Domres, Lambda '69 (Columbia University), who was third in total offense and fourth in passing (183 of 344 for 2,206 yards). His career totals still rank high in Columbia history (368 of 702 for 3,674 yards, 24 TDs). He was an NFL first round pick, and over nine pro seasons, Brother Domres completed 399 passes for 4,904 yards and 27 touchdowns.

Back Bill Hutchinson, Zeta '40 (Dartmouth College), still ranks fourth among Dartmouth career scorers with 151 points. A three-year starter, he gained All-American mention twice, played in the College All-Star Game, and had three pro seasons.

Tight end Jim Hanifan, Epsilon '55 (University of California, Berkeley), led the nation in receptions in 1954 (44 for 569 yards, 7 TDs), was a tri-captain and gained All-American mention. He played one year in the CFL and went on to greater fame as a longtime NFL assistant and head coach. Brother Hanifan has been the Washington Redskin's offensive line coach since 1990.

Four All-American standouts lead the offensive line. Tackle Bill McKeever, Chi '39 (Cornell University), gained All-American honors in 1938 and is in the school's Athletic Hall of Fame. Tackle Nate Parker, Zeta '26 (Dartmouth College), captained the undefeated 1925 Dartmouth squad and was an All-American that season. Charles "Bud" Wilkinson, Mu '37 (University of Minnesota), starred on three straight national championship teams for Minnesota. A two-year starter at guard before shifting to blocking back as a senior, he earned All-American honors in 1935 and was in the College All-Star Game.

Gus Zitrides, Zeta '39 (Dartmouth College), was an All-American in 1937-38 and starred for a Dartmouth squad that went undefeated in 22 straight games between 1936 and 1938.

After starting his college career at defensive tackle, Mark Slater, Mu '78 (University of Minnesota), shifted to center and played in the North-South, Blue-Grey, and Hall of Fame bowls. He had a solid six-year career in the NFL with San Diego and Philadelphia.

Bridging the gap from the past to the present is Roger Egbert, Theta '97 (Union College), who was chosen as 1996 pre-season Division III All-American first team kicker by The Sporting News. He led the 1995 Union NCAA playoff team with 63 points and ranked second in Division III field goal kicking with 13. Entering his senior year, Brother Egbert had scored 118 points (59 extra points, 21 FGs).

Leading the defensive line is College Hall of Fame charter member Frank Hinkey, Beta 1897 (Yale University), four-time All-American and Helms Player of the Year (1893). Called by Pop Warner "the greatest football player of all time," he never left the field and led Yale to a 52-1 record, allowing opponents just 25 points. Brother Hinkey was chosen on many all-time teams, including those picked by Pop Warner, Walter Camp, and the Football Writers Association of America (in 1969).

Two-time All-American John Reed Kilpatrick, Beta '11 (Yale University), was Helms Player of the Year and captained the 1910 Yale national championship team. A stellar defender and deadly tackler on punt coverage, he was elected to the College Hall of Fame in 1955.

For three straight years, tackle Larry Lutz, Epsilon '36 (University of California, Berkeley), received All-American honors. He captained the Golden Bears to a 9-1 season in 1935, and played in the East-West Shrine and College All-Star games.

Hall of Famer Bob Torrey, Tau '06 (University of Pennsylvania), was a three-year All-American and the first center to play loose behind the line on defense, thus becoming the first linebacker. He captained the 12-0-1 Penn squad as a senior and starred on a 12-0 club as a junior.

John Depler, Omicron '21 (University of Illinois), was also a three-time All-American selection and went on to become an early NFL head coach. Bob Lally, Chi '74 (Cornell University), was a three-time All-Ivy League selection, gained All-American mention, and is in the Cornell Athletic Hall of Fame. He was one of the World Football

"Bud" Wilkinson, Mu '37

Over 17 years, Wilkinson's Oklahoma Sooners rolled to a 145-29-4 record. His squads were virtually unstoppable, running off winning streaks of 31 and 47 games.

Jim Hanifan, Epsilon '55

Hanifan led the nation in receptions in 1954 while playing for California-Berkeley. He played one year in the CFL and went on to greater fame as a longtime NFL assistant and head coach.

League's top middle linebackers with Memphis (1974-75), then played for Green Bay in 1976.

Henry Ketcham, Beta '14 (Yale University), was a three-time All-American choice, captained the 1913 Yale squad and was elected to the College Hall of Fame in 1968.

Bernie Glier, Zeta Zeta '83 (University of British Columbia), appeared in 102 regular season Canadian Football League games and three Grey Cup title games playing a defensive back, rover and linebacker. As a collegian, he was a WIFU All-Star with 7 career interceptions before being drafted numbered one by the British Columbia Lions. His best pro year was 1983 with 5 interceptions for 83 yards.

Kilpatrick was a tough blocker and a highly competent receiver who frequently managed to come up with the big play. He later served many years as president of New York City's famed Madison Square Garden.

Psi U's other three first team defensive backs are all members of the College Football Hall of Fame who excelled on both offense and defense. Art Howe, Beta '12 (Yale University), earned All-American honors three years and was inducted into the Hall of Fame in 1973. Everett Bacon, Xi '13 (Wesleyan University), was an All-American in 1912, excelled as a punt returner and became a Hall of Famer in 1966. Vince

Stevenson, Tau '06 (University of Pennsylvania), gained All-American status in 1904, was named to the all-time Pennsylvania first team and was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1968.

In addition to his running skills, Jay Berwanger, Omega '36 (University of Chicago), was also an outstanding punter for three years and gets the nod as our first team punter. He had 223 career punts for a 37.3 average, with only nine touchbacks and 80 boots that went out of bounds and couldn't be returned.

Three Psi Us elected to the College Football Hall of Fame for their coaching exploits are also part of our all-time selections.

Amos Alonzo Stagg, Beta 1888 (Yale University), was an All-American end good enough to receive Hall of Fame recognition as a player before going into coaching. Head coach at Chicago for 41 years before going to Pacific, he was a head coach for an amazing 57 years and ranks fourth in victories with a 314-199-35 record. Among his innovations were developing such phases of the game as the huddle, man in motion, the playbook, reverses, and the onside kick, among others. Brother Stagg was a charter member of the Hall of Fame in 1951.

Everett Bacon, Xi '13

Bacon was a slick and dazzling back who became one of the pioneers of the forward pass, making it a lethal weapon in an era when most collegiate teams shied from its use.

PSI U OLYMPIANS

Garnet and Gold, Silver and Bronze – Psi Us Compete on the World Stage

THIS SUMMER, Psi Upsilon's lone Olympic athlete won a medal at Atlanta's Centennial Games. Marc Schneider, Theta Theta '95 (University of Washington), is the third member of our Fraternity to medal in rowing. The bronze medalist placed in the "Men's Lightweight Four without Coxswain," an event which premiered at this Olympiad.

In 1995, Brother Schneider was the smallest member of Washington's varsity eight. Husky Coach Bob Ernst praised his abilities and said: "He sets an exceptional rhythm... it's easy for guys to row behind him." He also called Brother Schneider the best stroke the Huskies had in his eight years as coach. A remarkable feat, considering Brother Schneider weighs 160 lbs., and the average man's weight on the varsity eight was 200 lbs.

Brother Schneider is clearly a rising star in the world of rowing. Having competed on the 1995 and 1996 national teams, and winning an Olympic medal at the young age of 23 (the average age on U.S. Olympic rowing team was 27), he is a likely candidate to row in the 2000 Games in Sydney, Australia.

The following includes, to the best of our knowledge, the eight other members of the Fraternity who have participated in either the summer or winter Olympics since the games began in 100 years ago:

Psi U's first known medalist was Ira Davenport, Omega '12 (University of Chicago), who won a bronze medal in the 800 meter run during the 1912 games. He also ran the 400 meter event but did not place. Two years earlier, he ran the world's fastest 440 yard time.

The Fraternity's next medalist was Lawrence "Chick" Stoddard, Beta '25 (Yale University). He won a 1924 gold medal in rowing as coxswain of the eight-oar boat.

The 1932 games saw three brothers win medals. Jack Shea, Zeta '32 (Dartmouth College), won speed skating gold medals in both the 500 meter and 1500 meter events. He had previously been the 1929 U.S. National Champion and 1930 North American champ and later was on the organizing committee for the 1980 winter Olympics in his hometown of Lake Placid, N.Y. Silver medal winners on the second-place U.S. hockey team were two Psi Us from Yale, Winthrop Palmer, Beta '30, and Frank Nelson, Beta '31. Palmer later played for the 1933 U.S. national team which won the world championship.

The Fraternity's next two participants both contributed to medal-winning rowing efforts. Rusty Callow, Theta Theta '16 (University of Washington), was coach of the first-place 1952 eight-oar boat, manned by his students from the Naval Academy. In addition to serving as rowing coach at Navy, he also coached at Washington and Pennsylvania during a lengthy coaching career (1922-59). At the 1964 games, Bill Stowe, Chi '62 (Cornell University), won gold on the eight-oar boat. He went on to coach crew at Columbia.

Even though they did not win medals, two Zetas (Dartmouth College) have been key members of the U.S. Nordic skiing teams of the 1970s and 1980s. Tim Caldwell, Zeta '76, was a

COLLEGE COACHES

Two Chis head Winning Programs at Cornell and New Mexico

DAVE BLISS, Chi '65, became the head coach at the University of New Mexico in 1988. Since taking over the program, he has built a 172-83 record with seven 20-win seasons. He begins the 1996-97 season needing just four wins to become the school's all-time leader in victories and winning percentage. The two-time Western Athletic Conference Coach of the Year is the only head coach in the history of New Mexico basketball to take teams to four NCAA Tournaments. Since Bliss arrived eight years ago, UNM has the best overall record (91-45) in WAC games among conference teams.

Brother Bliss and Oklahoma State's Eddie Sutton are the only coaches in NCAA history to win a regular-season conference title, a postseason conference tournament and make an NCAA Tournament appearance with three different schools. Bliss also coached winning programs at Southern Methodist and Oklahoma.

While an undergraduate at Cornell, Brother Bliss was an All-East and All-Ivy League guard in basketball and an all-league outfielder in baseball. As a senior, Bliss was named the Big Red's Athlete of the Year.

With an overall record of 35-25, and 25-17 in the Ivy League, Jim Hoffer, Chi '79, has the best Ivy League winning percentage of any Cornell football coach since the formation of the league in 1956. In his first six seasons, his Big Red squads have set 120 offensive, defensive and special teams records. In his first year, he directed the Big Red to its second Ivy League championship in three years, going 6-1 in the Ancient Eight. Just last year, the the Big Red broke eight school offensive records, including total offense yards, and ranked first in the league and 12th nationally in that category.

Before coaching at Cornell, Brother Hoffer was an assistant coach at Tennessee, Syracuse, Wake Forest, and Miami (Ohio).

As a quarterback at Cornell, the three-year letterman ranks eighth on the all-time career list for both completions and yardage and is tied for seventh in attempts. He is second on the Cornell list for most passing yards in a game (216 vs. Rutgers) and in a season (740) by a sophomore quarterback. ♦

Whether Brief Appearances or Life-long Careers, Psi Us Earn a Living Competing

basketball

Steve Hawes, Theta Theta '72

Hawes spent 10 years in the NBA playing for four teams.

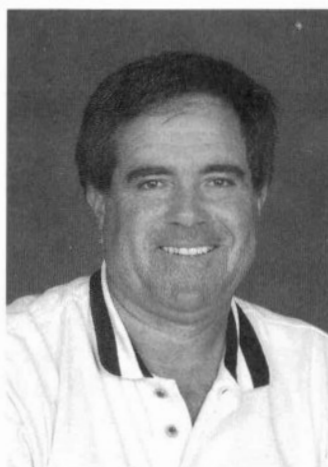

THE MAN CONSIDERED to be the Fraternity's top pro basketball star over the years is center/forward Steve Hawes, Theta Theta '72 (University of Washington), who had a solid 10-year career with four National Basketball Association clubs. After breaking in with the Houston Rockets in 1974-75, he spent the next season as a backup with the Rockets and Portland Trail Blazers. A trade to Atlanta in 1976 gave him a chance for more playing time and he saw regular duty during the next five seasons with the Hawks. Brother Hawes' best season was 1977-78 when he totaled 949 points (12.7) and grabbed 690 rebounds (9.2). In 688 career games, he scored 5,768 points (8.4) and had 4,272 rebounds (6.2) before retiring after the 1983-84 season with the Seattle Sonics.

Ray Patterson, Rho '44 (University of Wisconsin), had one pro season as a player but gained greater fame as a long-time NBA executive. An All-Big Ten center, he scored 366 points (6.5) for the 1947-48 Flint Dow A.C.'s of the National Basketball League. He was named president of the Milwaukee Bucks in 1968 and served in the role until joining the Houston Rockets in 1972 as president and general manager. Brother Patterson continued in that role until the early 1990s, laying the foundation for Houston's two-straight NBA titles.

Psi U's third pro player was forward Bill Haarlow, Omega '36 (University of Chicago), who played the 1937-38 season with the Whiting Ciesar All-Americans of the NBL.

PERFORMING WELL in his first year on the Senior PGA Tour is Rick Acton, Theta Theta '67 (University of Washington). As of mid-November, he ranked 28th among 1996 money leaders with earnings of $426,628 at 34 events played. Prior to placing fifth at the 1995 national qualifying tournament, he was director of golf at Sahalee Country Club in the Seattle area. Brother Acton was the 1994 Pacific Northwest Golf Professional and Player of the Year and a two-time member of the PGA Cup team (1986, 1994).

Acton is enjoying a successful first season on the Senior PGA Tour.

Minnesota Fighting Saints of the WHA the following season and scored 37 points, including 19 goals. Brother Gambucci added 10 goals in 45 games with the 1975-76 Fighting Saints. Right wing Bill Klatt, Mu '69, also played with the Fighting Saints, scoring 36 goals and 22 assists for the 1972-73 club. He totaled 20 points (14 goals, 6 assists) for the 1973-74 Fighting Saints.

IN 1964, George Lott, Omega '28 (University of Chicago) was inducted into the International Tennis Hall of Fame. He was Wimbledon doubles champ twice (1931, 1933); played on five Davis Cup squads (1928-31, 1934); and won numerous American titles, including U.S. doubles (1928-30, 1933-34), U.S. indoor doubles (1932, 1934), U.S. clay court singles and doubles (1932) and U.S. mixed doubles (1929, 1931, 1934). Brother Lott turned pro after the 1934 season and won pro doubles titles in 1935, 1937-38. He later served as tennis coach at DePaul University.

PSI U'S FIRST KNOWN major league players both made their debuts in 1884. Catcher Jim McCauley, Theta 1885 (Union College), appeared in one game for St. Louis of the American Association (the forerunner of the American League) and then played 27 contests for Buffalo and Chicago of the National League in 1885. He also played with Brooklyn of the American Association in 1886.

Pitcher Bill Vinton, Beta 1888 (Yale University), had a 10-10 record, 2.23 ERA, 20 complete games and 105 strikeouts for Philadelphia of the NL as a rookie. The following season, he pitched for the Philadelphia club in both leagues, posting a combined 7-9 record and 2.80 ERA.

The next Psi Upsilon big leaguer was Walter "Pop" Williams, Kappa 1896 (Bowdoin College), who pitched in two games for Washington (NL) in 1898. He next played with Chicago (NL) in 1902 and was 12-16 with 26 complete games and a 2.51 ERA over 254 1/3 innings. Brother Williams closed his career in 1903, going 5-7 for Chicago.

Breaking in just after the turn of the century was outfielder Fred Crolius, Zeta 1899 (Dartmouth College), who played for Boston (NL) in 1901 and Pittsburgh (NL) in 1902.

The next two known Psi Upsilon major leaguers played with the short-lived Federal League in 1915. Third baseman Ralph "Ted" Reed, Zeta '13 (Dartmouth College), hit .260 in 20 contests for Newark while Foster "Babe" Blackburn, Omega '17 (University of Chicago), pitched in seven games for Kansas City. He later had one appearance for the 1921 Chicago White Sox. Pitching in one game for the Washington Senators in 1925 was Spence Pumpelly, Beta '17 (Yale University).

Righthander Tracy "Dick" Barrett, Omicron '28 (University of Illinois), had a lengthy career and still ranks as one of minor league baseball's all-time leaders in several categories. After eight seasons in the minors, he posted a 4-4 mark for the 1933 Philadelphia A's, then appeared in 15 contests for the NL Boston club in 1934. After a return to the minors, he posted seven 20-win seasons for Seattle of the Pacific Coast League, including a league-best 27 victories, 178 strikeouts, and a 1.72 ERA in 1942.

Brother Barrett was back in the big leagues in 1943 with the Cubs and Phillies, posting a 10-13 record and 2.90 ERA. After two more seasons with the

THE DIAMOND OF PSI Upsilon

Cornell's sophomore running back Edward Marinaro, Chi '72, was featured on the cover of the Fall 1969 issue of The DIAMOND. While playing for the "Big Red," Brother Marinaro rewrote the college record books, gaining a then unprecedented 4,715 yards rushing in three seasons. Although he never matched his college acclaim while playing professionally, he did land a successful career in television.

After being sacked by pro football, Marinaro made the team on TV

Three years after leaving football, Edward Marinaro, Chi '72 (Cornell University) landed a role on NBC's Emmy-winning "Hill Street Blues."

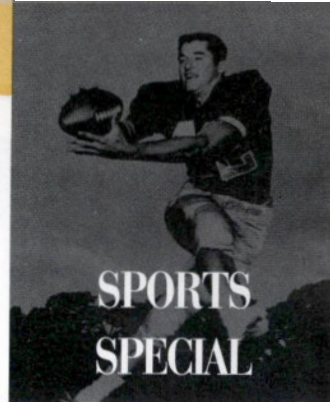

It was 1981, and drama lessons and persistence finally paid off for the 1971 Heisman Trophy runner-up. Although he had quest appearances on "Laverne & Shirley," and landed minor roles on shows that never aired, "Blues" was the big break he was waiting for.

Since then, Brother Marinaro has been a familiar face in television. He has been featured in 11 movies of the week, and has appeared on shows such as "Falcon Crest," "Dynasty,"

"My Sister Sam," and "Midnight Caller" before becoming "Mitch," a series regular on "Sisters." After "Sisters" completed its final season last year, Brother Marinaro has been a guest star on "Touched by an Angel," "Dream On," and was a regular on the series "Champs."

TEAM PRESIDENTS

William Clay Ford with Lions' coach Wayne Fontes. Ford has been president of the club since 1961.

Two Psi Us Have Long Histories With the Teams They Own

PSI UPSILON has long been associated with "big business" in corporate America and Canada. Appropriately, in this special issue on Psi Us in athletics, we recognize two brothers who have made a business out of owning professional sports teams. For more than 30 years, William Clay Ford, Phi '47 (University of Michigan), and William Wirtz, Sigma '51 (Brown University), have led their respective teams with high standards of excellence.

Brother William Clay Ford has guided the Detroit Lions with a sense of stability, integrity and honest leadership. Never one to seek the limelight, Brother Ford has not sought public accolades for his many contributions to football, the automobile industry, and his community.

Brother Ford's relationship with the Lions began during his childhood when his father, Edsel Ford, took him to the University of Detroit Stadium to see the first Lions' team play in their maiden season in the Motor City in 1934.

He became a club director in 1956 and was asked by then-Lions' President Edwin J. Anderson to become the team president in 1961. In November of 1963, Brother Ford purchased the team outright for $4.5 million and officially took over the club in January of 1964.

The 1996 season marks his 33rd year as the sole owner of the club, and after making generous investments via free agency and shrewd development through the draft, he believes the Lions should contend for the NFL's top prize. "While making the playoffs four times in the last five years is impressive, we have not accomplished our ultimate goal," Brother Ford said. "That goal is to win a Super Bowl. I feel confident that we are moving in that direction. We are not where we want to be yet, but I have every reason to believe that we are close and we are doing everything we possibly can to get there."

And of course, Brother Ford's other passion in life is the automobile industry. He retired after 40 years and holding several positions within the Ford Motor Company. He is still a director of the company and serves on two committees. He is the only surviving grandson of inventor and auto pioneer Henry Ford, founder of the company.

While he continues to contribute to Ford's direction and strategy, Brother Ford remains very active in the community. He serves as a director of the Economic Club of Detroit and is chairman emeritus of the board of trustees of The Edison Institute, which operates the Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village in Dearborn, Mich. He is a trustee of the Michigan Heart Association, the Eisenhower Medical Center and the Ronald Reagan Presidential Foundation. He also is a director of the National Tennis Hall of Fame, United Way of Southeastern Michigan, and the Boys' Club of America.

When the Wirtz family purchased the Chicago Blackhawks in 1954, it acquired a team rooted in last place. Brother William W. Wirtz, Sigma '51 (Brown University), took his place along with his father and brother Michael, Tau '57 (University of Pennsylvania), in the reshaping and redevelopment of a once proud franchise.

On August 18, 1994, the United Center was officially opened after a ribbon cutting ceremony. Together with partner Jerry Reinsdorf (far left), CEO of the Chicago Bulls, William Wirtz (far right) succeeded in constructing the state-of-the-art arena. He is proud the multipurpose stadium has been "financed with private funds and without taxpayer dollars." Standing next to Brother Wirtz is Illinois Governor Jim Edgar.

Brother William Wirtz became president of the club in 1966. Auspiciously, in his first year as president, the Blackhawks finished on top of their division for the first time in team history. Since that 1966-67 season, the team has recorded 13 divisional titles, won a President's Trophy and has a string of 25 consecutive playoff appearances. In only one of the years since 1967 did the team not qualify for playoff competition.

Since the 1995 season, the team has played in the state-of-the-art United Center; the team previously played in historic Chicago Stadium. The decision to construct a new arena for the team was a difficult one for Brother William Wirtz. Chicago stadium had been a family property since 1936, long before ownership of the Blackhawks was a reality. Michael Wirtz had served six years as general manager of the stadium, and both were equally affected by its demise. Recognizing the need to remain competitive, William Wirtz and Chicago Bulls' CEO Jerry Reinsdorf succeeded in constructing the United Center.

Brother William Wirtz's leadership has extended beyond Chicago to the NHL itself. He was elected nine times as Chairman of the NHL Board of Governors. Inside Hockey called him the most respected Governor in the National Hockey League. Having served as Chairman eighteen years, William Wirtz stepped down following the 1991-92 season. He presently sits on the National Hockey League Executive Committee. As a partial owner of the Chicago Bulls, William Wirtz is also a member of the board of directors for the Bulls organization.

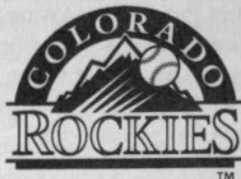

His achievements have been recognized: induction into the Hockey Hall of Fame in 1976; the reception of the Lester Patrick Trophy in 1978, (both honors also accorded his father);

As a major shareholder, Paul R. Dupee Jr., Sigma '67 (Brown University), is the vice chairman of the board of the Boston Celtics. The Celtics are one of only two professional teams that are publically owned.

Peter Coors, Chi '69 (Cornell University), is one of several limited partners in the Colorado Rockies ownership group. He is the CEO of the Coor Brewing Company, which purchased the naming rights to Coors Field.

William W. Wirtz, Sigma '51 (Brown University), owner of the Chicago Blackhawks, is one of several owners of the Chicago Bulls where he serves as a member of the board of directors.

“Bud” Wilkinson, Mu ‘37 (University of Minnesota), is tied for 17th among head coaches with the best winning percentage, 82.6% (145-29-4) during 17 seasons at Oklahoma. His Sooners had an unmatched 47-game winning streak while winning three national championships and 12 straight conference crowns. Brother Wilkinson was 6-2 in bowl games, coached the NFL St. Louis Cardinals, and went into the Hall of Fame in 1969.

Sixth in best winning percentage is George Woodruff, Beta 1889 (Yale University). He posted an 84.6% mark (142-25-2) over 12 seasons between 1892 and 1905 at Pennsylvania, Illinois, and Carlisle. He joined the Hall of Fame in 1963.

153rd CONVENTION

Foundation dedicates the International Office, Psi U's first-ever permanent headquarters facility

INDIAN 153rd Psi Upsilon Convention

IN CONJUNCTION with the dedication of the International Office, the 153rd Psi Upsilon Convention and 1996 Leadership Institute were held in Indianapolis from July 25 - 28. With the addition of the dedication of the International Office, the three-day event was especially memorable.

Indiana's capital city made for an ideal backdrop for the annual Convention. Delegates and guests had the opportunity to enjoy the city's popular shopping and entertainment destinations while the Fraternity conducted its legislative process. Undergraduates especially benefitted by participating in leadership and educational programs through the 1996 Leadership Institute and the inaugural Treasurer's Academy.

July 25 began with the Treasurer's Academy, an educational program founded to provide each chapter's chief financial officer with the skills necessary to manage effectively his chapter's financial resources. Undergraduate leaders were provided with basic skills in budgeting, collecting dues, financial reporting and accountability (to both Psi U and the IRS). Executive Director Mark A. Williams, Phi '76 (University of Michigan), and Director of Alumni Services Mariann H. Williams made presentations as well as Joel L. Gauthier, CPA, from Triangle Fraternity.

The Treasurers' Academy is the second leadership academy established by the Foundation. The popular Archons' Academy—a leadership program held for chapter presidents in January—is now in its fourth year. As part of the Chapter Leadership Program, both academies are made available to all chapters at through gifts to the Psi Upsilon Foundation.

APOLLIS and 1996 Leadership Institute

Meanwhile, the Executive Council convened for its fourth and final meeting for 1995-96. Executive Council President David A.B. Brown, Epsilon '66 (McGill University), called the meeting to order.

That evening, Brother Williams officially opened the 1996 Leadership Institute. The annual Leadership Institute provides undergraduate leaders with the skills necessary to face the wide range of challenges facing our chapters today. This year's Leadership Institute concentrated on several key issues including: consensus building, understanding leadership, academic excellence, and motivation.

Jennifer Wilber, Director of Member Services of the National Interfraternity Conference, made the presentation on consensus building. She focused on helping chapter members facilitate discussion, build trust, and develop respect. She was followed by Chuck Loring, former executive director of Phi Sigma Kappa Fraternity and a past president of the NIC. His discussion on leadership styles included an opportunity for the undergraduates to assess their own methods of leadership and evaluate their strengths and weaknesses.

July 26, the second day of the Leadership Institute, began with an explanation of Psi Upsilon's academic program, EXCEL: Excellence in the Classroom, Excellence for Life. Brother Williams stressed a commitment to academic excellence as one of Psi Upsilon's basic tenets and challenged the chapters to recruit good students and to recognize that scholastic achievement needs to be a priority in every chapter. Brother Williams was followed by a second presentation by Ms. Wilber of the NIC. Her interactive program on motivation included the use of brotherhood to facilitate

Meanwhile, George E. Wilson, Delta '61 (New York University), chaired the annual meeting of the Alumni Advisory Board. The meeting addressed ways to implement and improve

The Opening Session of the 153rd Convention was called to order by Brother Ralph Muschett, Delta '52 (New York University). On behalf of the Executive Council, he welcomed undergraduate and alumni delegates and guests to Indianapolis and appointed temporary Convention officers.

Immediately following the opening session, the Annual Meeting of Members of the Psi Upsilon Foundation, Inc. came to order. Business during this meeting consisted primarily of the election of directors for the Foundation.

Afterwards, the Foundation Scholarship Luncheon was held. Foundation President Charles M. Hall, Nu Alpha '71 (Washington & Lee University), recognized and congratulated 1996-97 scholarship recipients. He was followed by Jonathan Brant, executive vice president of the National Interfraternity Conference. He spoke on academic potential and efforts underway in the fraternity world to improve scholarship.

The rest of the afternoon was spent in committee meetings as Convention delegates hammered through important legislation. Committees on nominations and credentials, unfinished business, new business, and budget and development also met the following morning, as needed, in preparation for the Convention's closing session.

On July 27, the committees recommended the following actions which were then passed during the Convention's Closing Session:

The following were elected as permanent officers of the Convention: David A.B. Brown, Epsilon Phi '66 (McGill University), president; Forrest G. Forrest G. Weeks, Tau '52 - Epsilon Iota (University of Pennsylvania, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute), and Evan W. Terry, Epsilon Phi '93 (McGill University), were elected to serve as Executive Council term members each for three-year terms.

Norman J. Schoonover, Theta Theta '46 (University of Washington), was elected an honorary life member of the Executive Council.

Alumni members were appointed to serve on the Alumni Advisory Board for the year ending immediately following the 154th Convention in 1997.

AAB Sets Agenda, Provides Services

LAST YEAR, I said my primary goal as incoming Chairman of the Alumni Advisory Board was to make it a more relevant part of the official Fraternity family. I posed some basic questions: first, should the Fraternity provide services to its members after they have graduated and become alumni? Should it also be a membership organization for its alumni, rather than one solely for focusing on the undergraduates? If so, what services can or should be provided and how? At first blush, these concerns may seem unimportant to the undergraduate brothers. However, within four years, every undergraduate brother will become an alumnus. How long should the fraternity experience last? The answer is still unclear. It depends, in large part, on the support of the alumni.

The past year has been a busy one for the AAB. At its 1996 annual meeting, an agenda was set that addressed increased involvement by members, including improved communications and investigating ways to implement and improve service to alumni.

On October 29, 1995, the first edition of the AAB Skills Bank was published. Since then, it has been twice revised and contains the names of alumni who have volunteered their expertise to the Fraternity. A copy of this list should be in the hands of each undergraduate and alumni president. It can also be found on the AAB web page.

At the AAB's suggestion, an unofficial summary of the proceedings of the Executive Council is now being distributed to the AAB and others. This is important in order to facilitate the two-way valve concept that the AAB must have with the Executive Council to fulfill its mission.

On May 4, 1996, at our suggestion, the Executive Council approved expanding the AAB to include representatives of regional alumni associations and members at large. The latter category would enable the AAB to obtain the services of interested alumni without regard to chapter affiliation. Previously, one member was allowed for each

As part of its role in supporting local alumni organizations, the AAB is helping the new Alpha Omicron Provisional Chapter (New Jersey Institute of Technology) form an alumni organization. This fall, corporate papers will be filed for the Alpha Omicron Alumni Association, Inc. Alumni volunteers from the New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania areas will serve as interim directors until the Alpha Omicron begins "growing" its own alumni. It is expected that within five years the transition will be complete. Meanwhile, the new chapter will have the benefit of alumni who can help it avoid many pitfalls experienced by new chapters.

On July 21, 1996, the AAB web page went into service. The web address is: <http://www.debtspays.com/psiuaab>. It was designed by Brother George O. Williams, Epsilon Iota '79 (Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute), who also donated the space on his server. For the first time in the history of the Fraternity, alumni can network electronically. The web page will be updated periodically as circumstances require. Presently, it contains a list of all the AAB members, the AAB Skills Bank, the annual AAB report, and the minutes of the July 1996 AAB meeting. It also contains the complete Handbook for Alumni Organizations, which can be downloaded.

This brings me to our number one priority for 1996-97. The most important service we can provide new and young alumni is to help them into the job market or to reposition themselves. The web page has a place where employers can list job offerings. It also has a place where a job-seeking alumnus can post his or her resumé for consideration of potential employers. Conversely, older alumni will have a chance to practice their brotherhood by considering Psi Us with qualifications equal or exceeding those of the applicants found in other traditional sources of employees. These will be secure files, available only to Psi Us. I am calling upon every alumnus who ventures into the job market, either as consumer or supplier, to use the web page. It is especially important for employers to support this program. Without such support, it will fail. For instructions on uploading resumes and job offerings to the web page, call Brother George Williams at (516) 671-5564 or e-mail him at geo@debtspays.com.

In the coming year, we expect to build on the ideas developed during the past year. We want the fraternity to offer something to its members beyond their active years. We believe in the concept of service to alumni, especially in helping young alumni to launch their careers. With modern communication, alumni of all ages can enjoy the benefits of brotherhood until the sands of life are run.

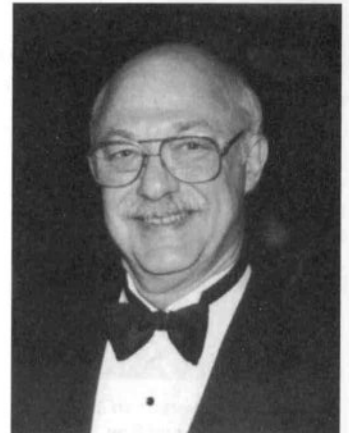

Yours in the Bonds,

George E. Wilson, Delta '61

THE CHAPTERS REPORT

THETA 1833

Union College

The weekend of October 25 and 26 was homecoming and parents weekend. With more than 50 alumni and parents visiting, the Theta had the opportunity to showcase the newly refurbished living room on the first floor of the chapter house, the latest in a series of improvements to the house's physical appearance. Funding for the renovations was made possible by contributions from many alumni, although a bequest left to the chapter by Brother Christopher Commack '40 funded most of the improvements. A beautiful grandfather clock was dedicated to Brother Commack at the beginning of the weekend.

Union's soccer team includes captain Geoff Sipperly '97 and brothers Steve Baunggartner '99 and Nate Blodgett '99. Roger Egbert '97 and Barry Eisenburg '99 compete on the Dutchmen football team. Scott Brown '99 joined Martin Metz '97 and Steve Hoyt '99 on the "Dutch Pipers," the men's a cappella group. Jason Pinney '97 was one of five students who planned the freshmen orientation period for the college. Stephen Potenza '97, Geoff Sullivan '98, and Jason Kellman '99 served under Brother Pinney as orientation advisors to the freshmen.

Phillies, he went back to the PCL for five more years and pitched in the lower minors until 1953. He later worked for the Phillies as a scout during the 1959 season. Today, he ranks as minor league baseball's all-time career leader in walks (2,096), and ranks among the career leaders in victories (235), strikeouts (2,512), 20-win seasons (eight) and games pitched (790).

Pitching briefly for the Boston Red Sox during the 1940 and 1946 seasons was Robert "Ace" Williams, Gamma '40 (Amherst College).

Lefty Paul Siebert, Mu '76 (University of Minnesota), was drafted third out of high school by the Houston Astros and went to school in the off season. A 15-7 record with Columbus of the Southern League in 1974 earned him a late season look with the Astros (five games, 1-1). He also pitched for Houston in 1975

(seven games) and 1976 (19 games) before being traded to San Diego. He posted a 2-1 record and 3.55 ERA with the Padres and Mets in 1977 and closed his big league career with 29 appearances for New York in 1978. Brother Siebert later pitched for Orlando of the short-lived Senior Professional Baseball League in 1990.

Righthanded relief specialist Rich Thompson, Gamma '80 (Amherst College), was drafted eighth by the Cleveland Indians in 1980 and spent four seasons in the minors before appearing in 57 contests for the 1985 Indians. Brother Thompson pitched four more years in the high minors before a 19-game stint with the Montreal Expos in 1989 and one appearance in 1990. He retired after the 1991 season with Oklahoma City.

Several other brothers have been involved with major league baseball in a non-playing capacity. Dan Galbreath, Gamma '52 (Amherst College), became president of the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1970. The club won five NL Eastern Division titles and the 1971 World Series over his first six year at the helm. He sold the franchise to a local coalition in 1986.

One of baseball's greatest judges of talent was Howie Haak, Upsilon '36 (University of Rochester), who spent more than 50 years as a scout, traveling secretary, and coach. A pitcher in the Cardinals farm system from 1931 to 1937, he then spent four years working for Branch Rickey as a coach and traveling secretary. After World War II, Brother Haak joined Rickey as a scout of the Dodgers until 1951, when he moved to the Pirates. He scouted the Latin American countries for a number of years and convinced Rickey to draft Roberto Clemente from the Dodgers system. He concluded his career as a special assignments scout with the Astros from 1989-93.

Current scout Marlin

McPhail, Chi '82 (Cornell University), completed his second year with the New York Mets in 1996. Signed by the Mets as a non-drafted infielder in 1982, he spent 10 seasons in the minor leagues with three organizations and played every position except shortstop.

Another recent minor leaguer was catcher Joe Perona, Epsilon Omega '91 (Northwestern University), who was drafted 10th by the Detroit Tigers in 1991 and played in the Eastern League during 1993-94. Brother Perona's best year was 1993 when he batted .269 (94 of 249) for London.

Two more Northwestern standouts made their minor league debuts this summer. Outfielder Jim Reeder, Epsilon Omega '97, was drafted 15th by Houston and hit .280 for Auburn of the NY-P League. Non-drafted catcher Dave Murray, Epsilon Omega '97, saw action with Lansing of the Midwest League, a Royals farm club. ♦
